THE Paris Monde says that Count Bismarck has promised to assist Marshal Prim in acquiring Gibraltar by force of arms, in case Prince Leopold became King of Spain.

THE largest trout ever caught in the Tay, or probably in any other river, was landed with the net on one of Lady Gray's fishings, near Perth recently. It weighed fifty pounds.

A RUSSIAN company is engaged in establishing navigation on the Daria and Amoor rivers and rapids of Pigawat, with a view of promoting commercial intercourse with Central Asia.

THE war preparations at Cherbourg and Toulon give evidence of extraordinary celerity. It is reported that forty five vessels of war and transports were armed and fitted for active service in one day.

THE France claims that France has acted openly, but that Marshal Prim and Count Bismarck surrounded themselves with mystery. They wanted to place France in presence of an accomplished fact.

TYPHUS fever is on the increase in Liverpool. It was reported at a meeting of the workhouse committee that there are now 185 fever patients in the hospital, which contains accommodation for 162 only.

A CALCUTTA dispatch to the French papers of July 15, says: "An earthquake has occurred near Tiflis, and has partly destroyed the telegraph lines. Communication is expected to be restored very shortly."

As one of the strongest incentives to war, the French journals said that if France had once more submitted to be insulted and outwitted by Bismarck, "no woman of character would have consented to be seen on a Frenchman's arm."

The Paris Siecle contains an address to the "workmen of all nations," with numerous signatures, protesting against blood being "shed for the odious satisfaction of vanity, or self-love, and of wounded and unsatiated monarchial ambition."

THE full extent of the loss of life caused by the firedamp explosion at the Silverdale Colliery, in North Staffordshire, is now known. Nineteen bodies have been "brought to bank," and it is stated that most of them exhibited traces of intense suffering.

THE monument to King Robert the Bruce, designed by George Cruikshank, which is to be erected at Edinburgh, will represent the King in chain armor, standing on a rock pedestal. The statute will be in bronze, 10 feet in height; the pedestal gray granite, 12 feet high.

DIALOGUE at a Paris curiosity shop: "You are wrong, Monsieur, not to take this sleeping bacchante; the marble is very beautiful, and, finally it is by Clesinger." "It is a useless thing." "Perhaps so, Monsieur, but consider how well it will look in case of a sale after death."

THE lightning recently struck the powder magazine of Santa Spirito, at Venice, where 600,000 pounds of that material are stored away. The conductor received the electric discharge, and its top literally melted away, and the whole length twisted, but no further damage was done.

THE railroad over the St. Gothard mountain is of great interest in Europe. Italy has voted 45,000,000 francs toward it; Switzerland votes 20,000,000; North Germany 10,000,000 francs, and little Baden votes 3,000,000 francs for its construction. France has commercial reasons for voting nothing.

THE new French engine of war, of which we have already heard by cable, called the mitrailleuse, capable of throwing a shower of balls at each discharge, has recently been put to the test. Three hundred horses were killed by the fire of two of them within the space of three minutes.

RECENTLY huge posters appeared on the walls about Woolwich announcing a public meeting in favor of woman suffrage, but at the hour appointed the hall contained five persons only out of a population of 72,000 souls, this audience comprising one boy, the hall-keeper, and three old women.

M. Louis Blanc asks will "England, so frightened at the image of a republic installed in the European nation best adapted for one, profit by the lessons of the current troubles?" "Forget not," he says, "men of the Bourse, the absurd necessity of having a king at all price sometimes costs very dear."

THE Emperor, says La Liberte, is personally inclined to war. He does not forgive Prussia for the attitude she assumed at the time of the plebiscite. M. de Bismarck had determined, and the Emperor knew it at the time, on declaring war against Napoleon III, if the result of the popular vote had been less favorable.

THE Frankfurter Zeitung, an irreconcilable adversary of the new regime in Germany, says "There is reason to despair of civilization, progress, liberty and right. The battles about to take place will not be combats for freedom or patriotism, and the victories, whoever may win them, will in the end profit only for military despotism."

THE Reveil contains a protest with several hundred signatures, which says that "the intrigue of General Prim neither menaces the interests nor honor of France; that a war undertaken on that pretext against German or Spanish brothers would be iniquitous, ruinous, and deserving the execrations of mankind; and that it can only be profitable to deposits and the founders of dynasties."

BELGIUM, which France proposed to annex, has an area of only 11,267 square miles, but has a population of 4,839,094, being thus the most densely inhabited country in Europe. She has a standing army of 40,000 men, and when on the war footing her forces number 100,000. Beside the standing army she has a National Guard representing about 400,000 men. Belgium has an extensive commerce, and her finances are in a very satisfactory state.

A NATIVE of Rheinish Prussia writes to M. Granier de Cassagnac that the German people on the left bank of the Rhine do not desire annexation to France, and that "before conquering that section the French must destroy the armies and people of the German Confederation—a rather difficult matter." M. de Cassagnac replies that there is a choice of only two alternatives—"either France will go to the Rhine, or Prussia will go to the Pyrenees."

A LONDON letter dated July 9, has the following "The death of Lord Clarendon was telegraphed, but did they say what killed him? It was the Greek brigands. While the fate of the prisoners was still pending he could neither eat nor sleep. Night and day he was sending and receiving messages urging Mr. Eckstine to do everything in his power to save them, and when the news of their death came, he was prostrated by the blow, and never recovered.

A BOMBAY dispatch of July 13, says: Accounts from Nankin state that serious disorders have taken place in consequence of cases of child stealing in which foreigners are said to be implicated. Several Chinese under torture are reported to have acknowledged the participation of aliens. An attack on the French missionaries was expected. Great agitation prevailed, and on the demand of the English Consul, Mr. Medhurst, the British gunboat Dove had been ordered to Nankin to protect the Catholic priests.

THE Kingdom of the Netherlands, which has been brought into question by the secret treaty, has an area of 13,464 square miles, a population of 3,735,682, and an army of 60,000 men. It has a navy of 60 steamers, with 641 guns, and 54 sailing vessels with 598 guns. The kingdom has a moderate revenue, which is not exceeded by the current expenditures. The colonial possessions of the Netherlands embrace an area of 651,267 square miles, with an estimated population of 18,371,000. Java is the most important of these colonies.

THE London newspapers contain the following advertisement: "Gads Hill Place, Higham, near Rochester, Kent.—A very valuable and beautiful Freehold Residential Property, delightfully situated, only one and one-half miles from the Higham Station, two and one-half from Rochester, on the South-eastern and London, Chatham and Dover Railways, and within an hour and a half of the metropolis, comprising in the whole about twenty-six acres, for many years the favorite home of Charles Dickens. Solicitors, Messrs. Farrer, Guvry & Co., No. 66 Lincoln's Inn-fields."

THE Paris Pays details the "grievances" which France has to complain of against Prussia, since 1863 alone! 1863, Convention with Russia during the Polish war; 1864, Violation of Jutland and capture of Duppel; 1865, Installation of Prince Charles in Roumania; 1866, Sadowa; 1867, Luxembourg affair, military treaties with the South; 1868, Customs Parliament, Non-execution of Article 5 of the Treaty of Prague; Annexation of Darmstadt (south of the Maine) to the Confederation of the North; 1869, Military Convention with Baden, Belgian railroad affair; 1870, Mount St. Gothard railroad affair, Spanish throne question.

A LETTER from Ems gives the following account of the interview between King William and Benedetti: A review took place here to-day on the ground near the promenade. As his Majesty was about to move on, M. Benedetti approached the King, and seemed on the point of addressing him on the subject apparently of certain papers which he held in his hand. King William, who did not appear in a very amiable mood, replied very briefly, and making a polite movement, as if to excuse himself for not hearing the ambassador at that moment, went on rapidly, followed by his staff. That scene cast a disagreeable feeling on the minds of many standing by, but immediately after his Majesty's brother, Prince Albrecht, separated himself from the group round the King and conversed with M. Benedetti most affably.

THE Siecle gives an account of a clever system of sheep stealing, which has been lately discovered in Paris. Several persons unite to buy a little flock of ten or twelve sheep on a market day; they then place themselves on the high road at a spot where it crosses a copse or is intersected by ditches. As soon as a distant cloud of dust announces the approach of one of the large flocks of from twelve to fifteen hundred sheep, which are often led by a single shepherd to the capital, they hasten to make certain arrangements previously concerted. The twelve sheep are placed at the edge of the road, where they browse on the scanty herbage. Extended carelessly on the ground, one of the thieves pretends to watch them, while his accomplices are hid in the ditches. As soon as the large flock passes, these seize the sheep within their reach, and quickly mark them in red with the initials of the association, and push them into the little flock of twelve sheep. This trick is repeated as often as a flock passes, so that by the end of the day the twelve have become a hundred. It is so cleverly done that the theft is only discovered at the slaughter house, when the number is found wanting.

THE Paris correspondent of the World says: The legislative chamber has been filled by a dense and excited crowd, which overflowed the palace and inundated Place Bourgoyne and the quays in front of the former. The sight here was curious, especially Tuesday, when M. Emile Ollivier read the letter announcing Prince Leopold was no longer a candidate for the Spanish crown, and expressed his belief there was no further question of the maintenance of Peace; there was a race to reach the Bourse, the like of which has not been seen since the Credit Mobilier, Pereire, and Mires were in their palmy days. I do not believe I exaggerate when I state there were 1,500 hacks racing from the Palais Bourbon to the Bourse. The passengers in each were panting to be first at the great mart that they might be sure of selling their information. Down to 3 P. M. war had seemed inevitable. But a rebound was certain; and to be sure the threes went up to 1.90. How those stock jobbers must regret their haste! One hundred thousand 3's at 68. The Prussian Ambassador has received his passport and leaves by special train in two hours. Eight hundred Bank of France at 2,800. France gave Rome to Italy. Austria gives the Tyrol. French troops in Rome recalled. Two hundred thousand Turkish at 43.50. Austria Denmark, Sweden, and Norway join France. Austria receives Danubian principalities. Denmark its old frontiers. Poland is reconstructed. One hundred and fifty thousand Credit Foncier at 1,175! Whole Garde Mobile ordered to camp of Chalons. Lyons army on march to Strasbourg. General Douay to enter Luxembourg to-morrow at the head of 60,000 men. Three hundred thousand Italian at 56. One hundred thousand dollars at 102. Five hundred thousand Orleans at 945." Then the hacks begin to rattle in from the Legislative Chamber. The drivers get a Napoleon; pay yourself and keep the rest for vails!" The drivers cannot believe their ears. The stock jobber is breathless, but he contrives to gasp "Peace—Prince de Hohenzollern withdraws—Prussia's note satisfactory—Prussian Ambassador received by the Emperor—the incident is a thing of the past." Wild huzzas; wilder clapping of hands and stamping of feet. Everybody tries to get into the Exchange, which is already crammed full. The galleries themselves are crowded. What a scene is below! The thousands of people are in knots, fiercely gesticulating and bawling at each other, as if they were fighting. The great mass sways to and fro and from side to side. What torn bits of paper are constantly falling to the floor! What excitement there is around the "basket" (the place where the stock brokers stand) as everything rises on the great flood-tide of peace.

"LET us tell you," says a Saratoga correspondent of the New York World, "of a pretty little miss, in summer silk, who had put on her hoops before coming to the Columbian Springs to be filled. She spoke the Brooklyn dialect, which is religious, and she was accompanied by a fast-looking man who wore a sporting velvet coat and one of those absurd glossy hats which suggest the impossible idea of polished veal. 'Give me another, dear,' said she in a sweet, bubbling voice that had a pleasant plash to it. 'One more, darling; I do so love the lithic acid! don't you?' 'Yes, my charmer,' he replied softly, bending over her, 'but you promised me to stick to the fluoride of calcium until we are married.' 'Well, what's the difference; you were going to take the chloride of potassium for my sake, but you've been mixing iodides and bicarbonates for a week. You know it, now!' and she dropped a little hot tear into the last tumbler. Then they went slowly away in search of another puddle."

WAR NEWS FROM EUROPE.

The Secret Treaty Not Proposed by France, at Least Not Seriously—The Contrary Demonstrated at Berlin—Spain Indignant and Wants an Explanation from the French War Minister—The Loyalty of South Germany Disarranges Napoleon's Plans—Russian Press Comments on the Situation.

[By Telegraph to Pittsburgh Gazette.]

Positive Denial.

LONDON, July 27.—M. Ollivier, in a letter to a friend here, denies the negotiation by France of the alleged secret treaty with Prussia. The French Minister of Foreign Affairs positively denies that France entertained the idea.

Sounding Bismarck.

PARIS, July 27.—All the French organs represent that the secret treaty was not seriously proposed by France, but rather as an attempt to test Bismarck.

The Original Draft of the Secret Treaty.

Count Von Bismarck yesterday publicly submitted the original draft of the secret treaty proposed between France and Prussia, in the handwriting of M. Benedetti, to the scrutiny of all the Foreign Ambassadors at Berlin. The affair has created a great sensation, as being a complete refutation of the announcement that Bismarck, and not Benedetti, was the author of the treaty.

Spain Wants an Explanation.

LONDON, July 27.—The Spanish Government has demanded of Duke Grammont an explanation of the assertion in his address to the Corps Legislatif, that the Cortes was to be surprised into voting for Prince Hohenzollern.

The Feeling in Spain—Government Secretly in Favor of France.

LONDON, July 28.—A special correspondent writes from Madrid on the 25th that the feeling of the Government was secretly in favor of France, based on satisfaction because Prussia and not Spain was attacked. The Republican newspapers denounced this tendency, and warned the Government that the people will not endure base submission to a French alliance under such circumstances. The same sentiment is partly shared by the army. The order expelling Don Carlos from France was purchased through intrigue by Olozaga, and with humiliating concessions. The Spanish parties each regard the war with reference to their dynastic interests. Montpensierists hope that France will be too busy to oppose their candidate. Gen. Prim keeps silence. The Republicans are immovable for a Republic.

Napoleon's Expectations Disappointed.

A special correspondent of the Tribune, under date of the 24th inst., midnight, writes from Berlin that Prussia's headquarters are still in that city. Prince Frederick Charles is in command of the army of the Rhine. It is considered as certain in Berlin that Napoleon, counting on the disloyalty of part of Southern Germany, planned a sudden movement across the Rhine before Prussia could concentrate a considerable force; that he was bitterly disappointed by the unanimity of all Germany, and not daring to risk a movement north, with the South German army on his flank, has certainly backed, and perhaps altered the original plan of the campaign. It is believed that no advance can now be made at any point without bringing on a general engagement. Prussia, though not ready for attack, is ready everywhere for defense.

The prolonged stay of headquarters, including the King and General Moltke, at Berlin, shows confidence that the Prussian lines cannot anywhere be suddenly forced.

The Russian Press Comments.

The St. Petersburg Gazette blames France wholly, while the Moscow Gazette and Exchange Gazette blame Prussia. The Solos was at first for Prussia, but is now against her and urges strict neutrality on the part of the Government. The Messenger, the official paper, at first attacked Prussia so strongly that the Prussian Charge d'Affairs complained.

News Summary.

An immediate and decisive movement of the French army is expected. The objective points have not transpired, but a simultaneous and formidable advance of the army upon the Rhine will probably take place.

The Moniteur says that the movements and concentration of French troops point to immediate and decisive action.

Danish neutrality is now reckoned as impregnable.

Austria is now siding with Prussia rather than France.

The French are purchasing arms in Liege, pretending they are to supply American orders.

The Russian Government attempted to interfere by persuading Prussia to make to England the declaration demanded by France, but failed.

The Russian force in Poland has been increased to 200,000 men, including the regiments of the Imperial Guard.

The French Empress has sent a congratulatory address to the sailors of the Baltic fleet.

Prussia in excepting the Paris declaration, also exempts from seizure the enemy's merchantmen not carrying contraband of war.

The Bank of England has raised the rate of interest to five per cent.

Hanovarians in Chicago Address King William.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, July 28.—Two hundred Hanovarians held a meeting last night to take action in regard to the news received by the French cable that three hundred Hanovarians had entered the French service. After discussion, the following dispatch was sent by cable:

To the President North German Parliament, Berlin: Report reaches from Paris that three hundred Hanovarians have entered French service. The Hanovarians of Chicago, in mass meeting, trust this to be an infernal falsehood of Napoleon. Our deepest sympathy is with all Germany. May our army soon enter Paris.

The New Mexico Gold Mines—Extraordinary Success of Miners.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

DENVER, COL., July 28.—The Elizabethtown (N. M.) Press reports extraordinary success at the Mareno Gulch mines for the past two weeks. One claim on Last Chance, working three men, cleared up three pounds of gold in twenty-four hours. Men from one claim in seven days in Grouse Gulch cleared up fifty-four ounces and eighteen pennyweights. The mines in all the gulches are doing finely; water abundant. The gold shipments are larger than ever before.

The Michigan Legislature.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

DETROIT, July 28.—In the Legislature to-day, in the Senate, a remonstrance was presented from one thousand citizens of Berrien county against any railroad aid amendments to the constitution. In the House a special message was received from the Governor, recommending legislation necessary to secure the collection of social statistics in the census; also to legalize tax rolls in certain counties.

NEW YORK CITY.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 27, 1870.

THE OCEAN YACHT RACE.

The sailing master of the Cambria says that yacht never sighted the Dauntless after the night of the start. She reached Cape Race in eighteen days and had heavy fogs and saw many icebergs. The greatest run any one day was two hundred and eight miles. She passed Sandy Hook Light Ship one hour and thirty-five minutes ahead of the Dauntless. The sailing master also says the Cambria passed the pilot boat last night, and that the Dauntless passed the same vessel, which had remained about stationary for about twelve hours afterwards.

Mr. Lorillard, who was a passenger on the Dauntless, reports that she lost two men overboard, and spent over two hours and a-half in a vain effort to pick them up.

The result of the race caused intense excitement here. The universal feeling is that the relative speed of the yachts is as yet undecided. When the rumor spread, early yesterday afternoon, that the Dauntless was winner the expressions of jubilation were unbounded, and the revulsion was correspondingly great when it was learned that the English yacht was victorious. The betting on each was very heavy, especially on Wall street and among the guests of the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Among all classes the number who invested their money on the American yacht was very large. The impression is prevalent that the sailing master of the Dauntless took a less favorable course than the Cambria adopted.

The log of the Cambria shows: July 5th, ran 56 miles, heavy sea; 6th, weather moderate, 179 miles; 7th, clear, 142 miles; 8th, lost fore top mast, fore top sail and jib top sail, all hands employed clearing wreck; 9th, 220 miles, moderate weather; 10th, 47 miles, light airs; 11th, 133 miles, heavy sea, shipped large quantities of water at times; 12th, 140 miles; 13th, 141; 14th, 174; 15th, 214; 16th 92; 17th, 61 miles; 18th, 180 miles; passed Cape Race six P. M.; 19th, 104 miles; again lost fore top mast; 20th, 144 miles; 21st, 169 miles; 22d, 158 miles; 23d, 75 miles; 24th, 85 miles; 26th, 82 miles; 27th passed Sandy Hook 3:30 P. M. High north latitude during voyage 54.59, on July 7th, which only decreased 1 degree: on 11th to 52; on 14th to 49.30; on 16th 44; on 20th and 29th, 40 on 26th.

The Dauntless, though her course varied with tacks, ran down latitude from the start. Her log shows: July 5th, ran 103 miles, fresh westerly wind, hasty; 6th, 90 miles, variable winds, heavy head swells, cloudy; 7th, 140 miles, heavy gales S. W., lost Chas. Shalt and Albert Demar overboard while furling the flying jib—hove to two hours, got out a boat and reluctantly compelled to give them up; 8th, 21 miles, fresh gales, rough sea, which moderated to a moderate breeze and a smooth sea; 9th, 120 miles, variable weather; 10th, 122 miles, right squally with a heavy head sea, split forestaysail, broke jib boom, hove to over an hour; 11th; 156 miles; 12th, 81 miles; 13th, 130 miles; 14th, 155 miles; 15th, 148 miles; 16th, 150 miles; 17th, 70 miles; 18th, 66 miles; 18th, 68 miles, light winds; 19th, 145 miles, squally; 20th, 225 miles, pleasant weather; 21st, 110 miles; 22d, 191 miles; 23d, 52 miles, calm, foggy; 24th, 120 miles, variable weather; 25th, 93 miles, foggy; at 3 P. M sounded in forty fathoms; 26th, 95 miles; 27th, 180 miles, passed Sandy Hook, light ship 4.47 P. M.

The Cambria came up to the Brooklyn Navy Yard this morning and will go on the dry dock immediately, receiving a thorough overhauling and repairs preparatory to entering races in American waters for the Queen's cup held by the America. The New York Yacht Club will give Ashbury a complimentary benefit at Delmonico's.

THE INDIAN COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Indian Commissioners held a meeting last evening and re-elected Mr. Brunot as President and Mr. Colyer as Secretary. Messrs. Garwell, Long and Colyer were appointed a Committee to consult with the Osages, supervise the payment of the Pottowattomies, Creeks, etc., and visit the Indian Territory. Messrs. Brunot and Campbell are to attend to the Sioux. Messrs. Stuart, Dodge and Campbell assist Commissioner Parker in the purchase of Indian goods. Premises have been secured here for the storage of goods which will at once be advertised for. It is hoped all will be forwarded within twenty days. Supplies, agricultural implements, seeds, &c., that can be will be purchased at the west. Those for the Pacific coast will be purchased in California. Messrs. Farwell & Colyer will visit the Indian reservations on the Pacific slope, including Arizona, in September.

Napoleon Leaves for the Army.

PARIS, July 28.—The Emperor left St. Cloud to-day by special train for the army. He was accompanied by Prince Napoleon. The Empress parted with them at the railway station, was deeply moved, and as soon as the train disappeared returned to the palace.

The Spanish Ambassador had an interview with the Emperor and Empress just before the departure, and the Moniteur Du Soir remarks on the extreme friendliness of their conversation. The Ambassador says the Emperor appeared quite well. As the crowd gathered around the Imperial car the Emperor bowed pleasantly to all.

Representatives of foreign powers at Paris transmitted to their respective governments notice of the Emperor's departure.

The Empress, attended by the ladies of the Court, proceeded to the Chapel of Notre Dame Des Victoires, and placed there a votive lamp, similar to the one she placed in the same chapel at the beginning of the Italian war.

The Emperor Arrives at Metz.

PARIS, July 28.—Midnight.—The Emperor arrived at four this afternoon at Metz, where the imperial headquarters are established. The proclamation of the army will be issued to-morrow.

A Battle Imminent Within Three Days. The Opposing Forces.

LONDON, July 28—Midnight.—Everything indicates an important engagement must take place within three days. The Prussians are concentrating between Treves and Merseig, on the river Saar. They have four hundred thousand men and rather too much cavalry to forage. The opposing force of French numbers about three hundred thousand.

England's Position in the War Announced.

LONDON, July 28.—The floor, galleries and lobby of the House of Lords were crowded to-night with spectators to hear the statement of the Government's position in the present war. Granville said the Government was embarrassed by the explosive material lying round it, with matches ready lighted, efforts to extinguish which had been useless. Though Lord Lyons had been able to hold back the declaration of war five days, the incident at Ems between Count Benedetti and the King of Prussia was remarkable, but no insult was intended. All observance of the Paris protocol, which provides for the settlement of disputes by mediation, was repudiated by both parties. In the presence of this war England had but one duty, and that was to observe strict neutrality.

Malmesbury and Russell approved the attitude and action of the Government. The war was wholly needless and inexcusable. Parliament would certainly sustain the Government in its policy of neutrality, and await opportunity for intervention.

The War Secretary Reticent.

Mr. Cardwell, War Secretary, declined to make any statement of the views of the Government about placing the army on a war footing. The Attorney General begged the members to cease putting questions of international law, and protested against being expected at the present time to answer questions of so much delicacy and moment.

The Foreign Enlistment Act was introduced. After discussing in Committee of Supply the sundry appropriation bills, the Commons adjourned.

The Feeling at London.

LONDON, July 28.—Earl Granville's statement in the House of Lords to-night, though meagre, is considered reassuring. Nothing was said of the secret treaty, nor of Bismarck's telegram to the Prussian Ambassador here.

The Daily News, in a leader for to-morrow, says the chief importance of the speech was its reference to our position as a neutral nation, but the purport of English neutrality must be judged less from Granville's guarded speech than from the tone of Parliament. France and Prussia cannot too clearly understand that if we are not in the fight, it is because we are not in the quarrel. No statesman on either side in the House of Lords is now disposed to say that under no circumstances would England fight. The tone of the press and Parliament alike shows that "Peace at any price," is not the national motto. "Our interest and obligations on the continent," &c., is as binding and important as ever, and we shall never allow her to make Antwerp another Cherbourg.

Still Hopes of Peace.

The Daily News correspondent at Paris on Wednesday, writes there are still some hopes of peace. Negotiations of some sort are proceeding actively. Lord Lyons is constantly with Duke De Grammont. The Emperor is reported hesitating, fearing a coalition against him. The European cabinets are under a strong impression that peace is possible. Probable as this is, its source gives it weight.

Blowing up of the Kehl Bridge a Mistake.

Our special correspondent writes from Metz, Tuesday: A Prussian officer says the Kehl bridge was destroyed by telegraphic mistake. After the explosion a second telegram was received from Berlin prohibiting the destruction.

What Bismarck Says About France.

Count Bismarck, in a dispatch to the North German Ambassador to England, confirmed the authenticity of the secret treaty published in the London Times. He says that since 1866 France has incessantly tempted Prussia with offers of territorial aggrandizement at the expense of Belgium and South Germany. He is confident France will not obtain any enlargement of territory, even by fighting for it, and says that had the disclosure made by the Times been withheld, France, though fully armed, would have repeated her offer of peace at the cost of the extinction of Belgium.

Princess Royal of Prussia Going to England.

The armored ship Warrior has been commissioned to bring the Princess Royal, wife of the Crown Prince of Prussia, to England.

Prince Napoleon Going to Denmark.

PARIS, July 28.—Prince Napoleon is going secretly to Copenhagen.

The Fleet Arrangements at Cherbourg—Baltic Expeditionary Corps.

A Tribune special writes from Cherbourg, to-day, that the second division of the Baltic fleet is still in port. More iron clads will arrive from Brest, and the Mediterranean fleet under Vice Admiral Fourishon, comprising seven ships. Prince Napoleon will command the Baltic Expeditionary Corps. All troops for that corps will not be in Cherbourg for a week, by which time the two main divisions of the fleet will begin an attack at some point on the Prussian coast.

Still Harping on That Treaty.

LONDON, July 28.—The Times continues its comments on the secret treaty proposed by France to Prussia. After carefully weighing the evidence, the Times thinks the authenticity of the treaty is fully established. It is clear both parties were involved in a conspiracy, touching which they should now make a clean breast.

A formal communication from the North German Confederation is expected, demonstrating the authenticity of the treaty and reciting other similar overtures from the French Emperor.

Furious over Mail Interference.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the people in that city are furious because Prussia intercepts French and English journals.

Denmark Favors France Through Hatred of Prussia.

The Times fears that Denmark's good understanding with France is due only to hatred of Prussia.

Marine Insurance.

The war premium on French bottoms is one half per cent.

French Cruiser off the British Coast.

LONDON, July 28.—A French cruiser is off the Isle of Wight and is said to be boarding all merchantmen.

The French American Legion.

PARIS, July 28.—The American Legion now forming here is to have a French commander nominated by the Government.

Important Arrests of Officers.

The Moniteur reports three important prisoners taken at Metz. Two were officers of the Baden army and have been released on parole; the other was arrested while attempting to cut telegraph wires. The Baden officers have been treated with great courtesy by General Leboeuf and will be sent to Paris.

War Demonstrations Forbidden.

LIVERPOOL, July 28.—All war demonstrations, either in favor of Germany or France, are forbidden here.

Prussia Complains of England.

LONDON, July 28.—Prussia complains of England for furnishing coal and arms to France.

New Light About that Treaty.

BRUSSELS, July 28.—The Independence Belge publishes a letter from a Berlin correspondent, which throws some new light on the secret treaty proposed to Prussia by France. The correspondent says he saw the original draft of the treaty in the archives of the war office at Berlin, and certifies to the accuracy of the copy recently printed by the London Times. France has repeatedly demanded this document from the Prussian Government through her representative at Berlin, Count Benedetti, but in all cases has been refused, and now that she is satisfied that its recovery is impossible, assumes a hostile attitude toward Prussia.

Napoleon and the Garde Nationale.

PARIS, July 28.—The Journal Officiel publishes the following letter from the Emperor, dated July 26th:

Commander-in-Chief of Garde Nationale of Paris—Dear General: I beg you to express on my part to the Garde Nationale of Paris how much I count on its patriotism and devotion at the moment when I am about to set out for the army. I have to testify to the confidence which I repose in its will and ability to maintain order in Paris and to contribute to the security of the regency of the Empress. It is becoming to say that each one, according to the measure of his ability, shall add to the safety of the country.

What Russia Thinks.

The Journal also contains the correspondence from St. Petersburg, in which it is said Russia does not sympathize with Prussia. Prussia wishes to make a Prussian lake of the Baltic and attacks the independence of Denmark and that of half of Germany. The correspondence says further: The Czar treats the French Ambassador here with much distinction.

Fete Funds for the Army.

The Patrie publishes a circular from the Minister of the Interior, announcing to the Prefects of departments that the Emperor desires the funds usually appropriated for public rejoicing at the fete of the 15th of August to be given this year to the army.

French Buying Arms Under False Pretense

BERLIN, July 28.—The French employ American agents to buy arms at Liege, under the pretense that they are intended for the United States.

Great Excitement in Turkey.

LONDON, July 28.—Great excitement is caused in the Danubian principalities by the breaking out of the war. The people are preparing to make use of the opportunity to obtain their independence. Turkey is arming to prevent a revolt.

Foreign Officers Not Allowed to Follow the French Army.

PARIS, July 28.—It having been reported here that several American officers desire to follow the French army in the campaign against Prussia, for the purpose of making observations for the use of the American Government, petitions were lately filed with the government for the necessary permission. The request was declined, the highest military authority of the empire repeating that no foreign officer, however high his rank, will be permitted near the French army.

Conditiona Alliance with Italy.

The Gaulois publishes a report that a conditional alliance has been concluded between France and Italy, and that the new treaty stipulates that in case of certain eventualities France is to pay Italy sixty million francs and leave her free to make Rome the capital of the kingdom.

Advices from Rome represent that the Pope accepts as inevitable the evacuation of Rome by French troops.

Indignation in Spain.

MADRID, July 28—Indignation at Grammont's aspersion of the Cortes is unabated and tends to avert the sympathies of many from France.

Where are the Prussians?

PARIS, July 28.—Reports from the southern border of Baden state that no Prussian troops are to be seen along the Rhine from Baste to Constance. A small corps of infantry is posted near Rheinfelten. The troops of Wurtemburg are moving towards the fortress of Rastadt.

Belgium Looking After Her Frontier.

LONDON, July 28.—The Belgium camp at Beverloo is broken up and the troops distributed among the frontier fortresses. All work on the fortifications is being rapidly hurried forward to completion.

Abdel Kader has volunteered to serve in the French army.

Old blockade runners are being sold for service in the Baltic.

The steamer Darien has changed hands and her name altered to Genira.

The Baltic Coal Trade.

The Shipping Gazette censures the attempt of Prussia to interfere with the coal trade of the Baltic, and has reason to expect that her next move will be to pronounce coal contraband of war.

Secret Treaties of Napoleon.

BERLIN, July 28.—Count Bendetti's draft of the the secret treaty between France and Prussia is not the only document of the kind which exists. Napoleon at one time opened similar engagements, presenting his views with regard to Switzerland and intimating he did not know where France ended and Italy begun. Papers proving this statement, it is understood, will soon be produced.

Prussia Anxious About her Coast—Premiums for the Destruction of French Vessels.

BERLIN, July 28.—A royal decree has been issued, calling for volunteer marines to protect the Prussian coast. Premiums of various grades, some of them as high as fifty thousand dollars, are offered for the destruction of hostile vessels.

The Coal Question in the Commons.

In the Commons to-night the Government was asked if any orders prohibiting the exportation of coal had gone out. The Attorney General replied that no such order was issued, and added that it would be impossible to legally seize and detain coal unless on vessels in the service of belligerents.

CHINA.

The Attack on Foreigners at Pekin.

LONDON, July 28.—Advices from Shanghai to July 14, show that the attack on foreigners at Pekin was directed only against the French, though other foreigners were accidentally killed. The house of the Sisters of Mercy was destroyed and its inmates ravished by Chinese.

Rochefort on the War.

Mr. Henri Rochefort has addressed the following letter to his constituents:

SAINTE PELAGIE, July 11th.

DEAR ELECTORS: I hardly know which of the recent ministerial pieces of braggadocio should be received, and which taken no notice of, but had I occupied my seat as Deputy on the occasion of the warlike declaration of the government, I should certainly have protested against that unwarrantable right which the executive power assumes of unchaining another scourge on our country, already menaced with famine. The dynastic conflict, which is at present troubling business and the public minds, is the most terrible condemnation of the monarchical principle. If, instead of expelling the Spanish republicans who had taken refuge on the French soil, the Cabinet had favored the establishment of a republic in Spain we should not now have had to upset a king whose dethronement will perhaps cost oceans of blood and years of misery. Nor should we either have had to fear the sudden formation of those secret alliances the combination of which is repugnant to the straightforward character of republican institutions. And it is at the moment when the interests of all nations are fused together and mutually conjoint; when, from one end of Europe to the other, the workingmen are trying to meet and coalesce, without distinction of language or country, against that other evil which is called capital—it is this conjuncture which is selected to disperse with grape-shot those who are only anxious to make common cause together. Every war the object of which goes beyond the strict defence of the frontier is but a series of murders. To reconstitute the empire of Charles V., to restore that of Napoleon I., may be fine fancies for monarchs; but we who are aware what sovereigns cost us, know also what their day-dreams bring us as profit. That is what I should have said in the Chamber, or rather what I should have attempted to say, for my voice would have been drowned, as usual, by the laughter or vociferations of the majority who sent your deputy to Ste. Pelagie. But here or elsewhere it is to you alone that I address myself, to you who see the future of the populations elsewhere than in their extermination, and who know, alas! to-day the true value of those crowned philanthropists who take the destruction of the poor for the extinction of pauperism.

The Popular War in France—Great Excitement on the Boulevards.

[From the Paris Figaro, July 16.]

Never was there an evening of greater excitement, not even in the worst days of of June or January, was the crowd more compact and more excited on the boulevards. From 9 o'clock along the whole line of the Faubourg Poissonniere to the Madeleine traffic had become impossible. The bulk of the movement was centralized before the little Bourse. The route of the public conveyances had to be changed to accommodate the crowd for it was impracticable to work a passage through this ocean of human beings.

The agitation had nothing of the character that characterizes riot. They were manifesting not against the order but against a hostile nation, whose insolent attitude irritates French susceptibilities. This sentiment was displayed by shouts of "To Berlin!" "Down with the Prussians"—now and then, "Down with the Cabinet"—then again strong bands defiled, singing the "Marseillaise" and shouting, "Death to Prussians."

While the crowd was waiting at the doors of the Corps Legislatif some artillery wagons went by; immediately arose cries of "Vive L' Empereur!" "Down with Prussia!"

An ovation of the same kind was given the Emperor himself when he quitted the Tuilleries to return to St. Cloud.

At 11:30 a band 1,500 strong, in blouses, passed along the Boulevard waving three tri-colors, and singing in chorus

"Mourir pour la Patrie."

and

"Guerre aux tyrans,
Jamais en France,
Jamais le Prussien ne regnera."

They were received everywhere with acclamations by the assembled crowds. The same band went along the Rue de la Paix, and under the windows of the Minister of Justice and Marshal Canrobert they came to a halt to repeat the cries of "Down with Prussia!" "Vive la guerre!"

Another band of 4,000 went up and down the Boulevard from the Place de la Bastile to the Madeleine with a stand of colors, "Down with Bismarck!" "To Berlin!" "Vive la France!" There two bands encountered on the Boulevard de Strasbourg, and brigaded.

Another strong party, marching along with their colors, were interrupted by a sergeant de ville, who arrested the color-bearer and marched him to the police-station. The brigadier on duty, having heard the charge, dismissed it, and himself brought out the offender and replaced him with his colors in the ranks. The act of the officer wes received with shouts "Vive l'Empereur," "A bas Bismarck," "Down with Prussia," and the crowd in their exuberance nearly smothered the brigadier by their embraces.

The Closerie des Lilas, the famous dance garden of the students, had a full attendance, and even in their amusements the Parisians manifested the war spirit for the quadrille of the Landwehr, danced by the leading ladies, was hissed off the floor.

Prussian Fortifications—Defenses of the Frontier—The West Point.

[From La Liberte, July 16.]

The Confederation of North Germany possesses nine strongholds of the first class. They are: On the Rhine, Mayence, Coblentz, Cologne; on the Elbe, Koenigstein, Madgebourg; on the Oder, Stettin; on the Wartha, Posen; near the mouth of the Vistula, Dantzick; on the Pregel, Koenigsberg.

All these places are on Prussian ground except Meyence (Hesse) and Koenigstein (Saxony).

There are fourteen strongholds of the second class: On the river Sarre, Saarlouis; on the Rhine, Wesel; on the Weser, Minden; on the Gora, Erfurt; on the Elbe, Forgan; on the Spree, Spandan; on the Oder, Glogau; on the Neisse, Glatz, Neisse; on the Baltic, Sonderburg-Dwppel, Kiel-Friedrichstadt, Stralsund, Colberg.

The strongholds of the third class are: On the Elbe, Wittenberg; on the Oder, Kosel, Kustrin; on the Vistula, Grandenz; on the Baltic, Swinemwnde, Pillau.

Besides these, there are also the following fortified posts: The earthworks about Dresden, the bridge at Dusseldorf, the bridge of Marienburg, the bridge of Dirschau, the mouth of the Weser, the fort of Memel.

La Liberte concludes that, in order to enter Germany, the best way for them was to pass out between Strasburg and Basle, for there is no fortification there; then to silence the fortifications of Rastadt with a division, and to march on Berlin by way of Frankfort, Cassel and Leipsic.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

Of Valuable Property in the Borough of Beaver Falls and Patterson, Township, Beaver county, Pa.

By virtue of a decree of the Court of Common Pleas of Beaver county, sitting in equity, the subscriber will offer at public sale or auction on the premises, on Thursday, August 25, 1870,

At 10 o'clock A. M., all the following described three pieces or parcels of land commonly known as the Ross and Patterson lands, to wit:

No. 1, a beautiful piece of ground situate on the bank of Big Beaver creek in the borough of Beaver Fall and immediately adjoining the Railroad station, the Cutlery Works and other improved portions of said town, and directly opposite the town of New Brighton on the left bank of the creek. This property, from its beauty of location, business advantages (by proximity to the P. F. W. & C. R. W., Erie canal and unexcelled water power of Beaver Falls) is admirably adapted to being laid out in town lots or for manufacturing purposes. The portion of this ground lying between the county road and the creek is under fence and has on it two houses; one of which is log and the other frame. Also, two old shops and a small orchard of good fruit. This property is bounded and described as follows. Beginning at a stake on the bank of Big Beaver creek, thence by land of Jas. Patterson north 64 degrees, west 16 40-100 perches to the centre of track of the P. Ft. W. & C. R. W., under appropriation of said Co. at No. 184 June term, 1869, Beaver County Common Pleas; thence by said centre of railway track, north 37 degrees, 18 minutes, west 8 50-100 perches, north 33 degrees, 28 minutes, west 6 6-100 perches, north 29 degrees, 38 minutes, west 6 6-100 perches, north 25 degrees, 48 minutes, west 6 6-100 perches, north 21 degrees, 58 minutes, west 6 6-100 perches, north 18 degrees, 8 minutes, west 6 6-100 perches, north 16 degrees, 15 minutes, west 70 45-100 perches to line of land late Jas. Patterson's, now Henrici & Lenz; thence by line of said land north 88 degrees, east 17 79-100 perches to a post; thence by lot now occupied by Mrs. Ross, south 17½ degrees, east 9 7-100 perches to a stake, north 77 degrees 35 minutes, east 12 1-5 perches to a stake; thence by Walnut Bottom Run south 18 degrees, east 4 1-10 perches to a stake, south 20 degrees, east 19 1-4 perches to a stake, south 25 degrees, east 25 perches to a stake, south 45 degrees, east 26 perches to the Big Beaver creek; thence by said creek south 21 degrees, west 43 perches to the place of beginning, containing 22 acres and 79 perches, subject, however, to the right of way of P. Ft. W. & C. R. W., which occupies 2 acres and 31 perches.

No. 2—A fine farm situate and being partly in the borough of Beaver Falls and partly in Patterson tp.

This is a Valuable Piece of Land, being nearly all under fence, in a good state of cultivation and well watered by springs. The improvements are a one and a half story log house with frame addition and frame barn. There is a never failing spring of water near the house and a small orchard of grafted fruit. A considerable amount of good timber yet remains on the hillside portion of the farm. A vein of excellent coal of about two feet in thickness, and two veins of fire-clay underlie the place, which are particularly valuable owing to their contiguity to a good home market and the facilities for shipping by Railroad and canal.

This would make an Excellent Dairy, or Gardening Farm, having a ready market in Beaver Falls, New Brighton and Fallston, with an aggregate population of nine or ten thousand persons. This piece of land is bounded and described as follows: Commencing at a stake in centre of railway track, distant 16 40-100 perches from the west bank of Big Beaver creek; thence by land of James Patterson north 64 degrees west 38 40-100 perches; north 83 degrees west 43 perches to a stake; south 79¼ degrees west 21¼ perches to a stake; south 59¼ degrees west 17⅝ perches to a stake; south 82 degrees west 21 perches to a stake; thence by parcel of land No. 3—hereinafter described—north 51¾ degrees west 9 3-10 perches to a stake; north 73¾ degrees west 14 7-10 perches to a stake; north 41¼ degrees west 18 65-100 perches to a stake; south eighty-nine (89) degrees west 22½ perches to a post; thence by land of Thomas Wells, north 1 degree west 128 3-10 perches to a Black Oak; thence by land formerly of James Patterson, now Henrici & Lentz, north 89 degrees east 49 perches to a post; south 1 degree east 62½ perches to a black oak stump; north 88 degrees east 101 91-100 perches to centre line of track of Pitt., Ft. W. & C. R. W.; thence by said centre line of railway track south 16 degrees 15 minutes east 70 45-100 perches; south 18 degrees 8 minutes east 6 06-100 perches; south 21 degrees 58 minutes east 6 06-100 perches; south 25 degrees 48 minutes east 6 06-100 perches; south 29 degrees 38 minutes east 6 06-100 perches; south 33 degrees 28 minutes east 6 06-100 perches; south 37 degrees 18 minutes east 8 50-100 perches to place of beginning; containing 100 acres and 84 perches, subject, however to the right of way of P. F. W. & C. R. W., which occupies 2 acres and 40 perches.

No. 3.—A piece or parcel of land in Patterson Township.

This is a Choice Piece of Meadow Land, but only partially under fence; a spring run passes through a portion of the ground, a vein of coal and Fire Clay underlie the place. This would also make an excellent Dairy or Garden Farm. It is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a post on west side of State road, thence by land of Thomas Wells south 89 degrees 41 perches to a post; thence by land of James Patterson south 1 degree east 47 perches to a post; north 89 degrees east 41 perches to a stake; north 1 degree west 8 perches to a stake; north 80 degrees east 44 perches to a stake; north 58 degrees east 14 65-100 perches to a stake on a brook or run; thence by parcel of land No. 2, last aforesaid described, north 51 3-4 degrees west 9 3-10 perches to a stake; north 73 3-4 degrees west 14 7-10 perches to a stake; north 41 1-2 degrees west 18 65-100 perches to a stake; south 89 degrees west 22 1-2 perches to the place of beginning, containing 20 acres and 140 perches.

TERMS OF SALE.—One third of purchase money to be paid down, and balance in one and two years, with annual interest thereon, being secured by bond and mortgage on the property, purchaser to pay all expense of stamping and preparing deeds.

Persons desiring to see the property or plots thereof, will please call on the Trustee at his residence in New Brighton, Pa. G. S. BARKER, jy29-a65 Trustee.

PRUSSIA did a gracious and graceful thing in observing Wednesday as a day of prayer and fasting. God's aid is more powerful than strong battalions.

---

NEARLY forty thousand barrels of crude oil were sold on Duquesne Way yesterday. Our city still manages to retain her position as one of the great central oil markets of the world.

---

OUR locality charges up another hundred thousand dollars to her lightning account, as loss sustained at the great fire on Wednesday night. The loss of life and property from the striking of the subtle fluid this season has been fearful.

ENGLAND in the sporting way holds the laurels in all lines above the reach of America. Sayers thrashed Heenan, Hamill was vanquished as a sculler, our college crew of oarsmen were sent home chagrined with defeat, and now comes in the English yacht Cambria ahead of the American Dauntless. The old mother country has not lost her vim yet.

THAT is a silly story in circulation to the effect that a large body of German Americans are to be organized in this country to fight under Gen. Seigel for Prussia. The Germans know that our country remains neutral in the war, and that it would be illegal for any organized body to leave the land to join the foreign army. As individuals they can go and then enlist after arrival on the other side. However, while their sympathies, prayers and money are for Prussia, but few will be foolhardy enough to cross the ocean for the pleasure of fighting the French, nor will many French Americans be found eager to get into the fight.

THOSE candidates, on the "new party" ticket who are assuring their friends daily that it will be withdrawn, are still denounced by the Commercial as the authors of "sheer inventions," and "coined falsehoods." It commands them peremptorily to "cease their falsehoods!" It is hinted too that if they do not "cease their falsehoods" certain letters will be given to the public, which may not be to their advantage. This letter publishing business is just "My Policy." But really we think the members of a party so young, and so small that it cannot muster fourteen individuals, as seen in the fact that the Committee which was "clothed with full power" to fill "all vacancies" have not succeeded in filling one, should have no ground for quarrel. Gentlemen, the quarrel is not ours, but we would earnestly entreat of you for the sake of the good old Republican party from which you have seceded, to have more consideration for each other's character for veracity. Surely in a small and select party of less than fourteen, there should not be found one "sheer inventor" or "coiner of falsehoods." Still, wherever the want of veracity may lie, these gentlemen assure us the ticket will be withdrawn, and that its withdrawal has been decided upon. Let there be no strife among you. Let these mischievous letters of "solicitation" and "acceptance" be published. Their publication will do good. We have had some in type for a long time, and would like to get a chance to publish them. Then after the letters are published, give us the resolution of withdrawal. But above all things, and for the sake of the old mother whom you have abandoned, do not quarrel among yourselves, nor brand each other as "coiners of falsehoods." It is not becoming, especially in "reformers." "Cease" it for your own sakes.

WHO wrote the secret treaty, Bismarck or Benedetti? This mooted question seems to find settlement and full answer in the fact that the manuscript has been laid by Bismarck open to the inspection of all the foreign ministers at Berlin, and the writing is by the hand of Benedetti. Doubtless Bismarck is not so innocent in the matter as he would have the outside world believe. The treaty places France in an awkward position, and its publication will tend to more certainly fix the current of public sympathy against her. By this treaty France offered to acknowledge the title of Prussia to the territories she had absorbed in the course of the war, and to consent to the union of North and South Germany, provided the German provinces now embraced in Cisleithan Austria were not included. In return for this Prussia was to permit France to seize Luxemburg and Belgium! These conditions sound rather singu'ar as coming from France, whose wily Emperor declared only a few days ago that the war was waged to put an end to the aggression of Prussia, and in the same breath he proclaimed that he had no designs against any of the neutral powers. In referring to the complications which will probably be brought about by the develpement of the secret treaty, the New York Tribune remarks:

> We have little doubt that England in this emergency will come to the rescue of the Belgian monarchy, whose independence she is bound, in common with other powers, to guarantee; and when England has entered the field it is hard to say what other alliances may follow. We may possibly see the greater part of Europe arrayed against the Third Napoleon as it was formerly arrayed against the First. But there will be no such struggle now as there was in the time of that splendid military genius whose glory the present ruler of the Tuileries is trying to copy. England is capable alone of dealing France a terrible blow, for England can cope with the French navy and open the Prussian ports, can neutralize any French movement in the direction of the North Sea, and with the co-operation of Belgium and Holland can defeat Napoleon's purpose of making a base of operations in Denmark. The rumored evacuation of Rome is equivalent to a rumored alliance between France and Italy, and we presume there is already an alliance of some kind between France and Spain; but neither Prim nor Victor Emmanuel is in a condition to give Napoleon much help. As for Russia and Austria, it will be strange if, in the face of this new disclosure, they enter the quarrel on the French side.

AMERICAN NOVELS.

The world is divided into two classes, those who read novels and those who do not. The former of these is very large and seems to be constantly increasing, especially here in America where the demand grows greater every day for fresh fiction. This being the case it is somewhat singular that we have produced so few novel makers—so few that hitherto we have depended almost entirely for our supply upon Europe. It is true that early in the century Mr. Fennimore Cooper wrote a series of novels but they have long ceased to be read, in this the country of their birth, beyond a very limited extent, although they find their place in most standard libraries. Then Dr. Holmes has written two novels, which are favorites everywhere. Major Winthrop began in a way that promised great things, but death intervened before the promise could be fulfilled. Mrs. Stowe has written several books which would never have gained any renown if the purposes for which they were written had been less prominently before the public, and Mr. Curtis has written one really great fiction, which leads all the others, as Vanity Fair excels all other novels ever written. But as a general thing we are not in the habit of expecting much in this line from our own country, and when we read of a new serial story by a distinguished American author, we do not expect any thing either very entertaining or very elegantly written. On this account our astonishment was recently the greater when we were called upon to read a couple of American novels, and found them to be really better than the average of imported literature of the same class. "The Lady of the Ice," by James de Mille, is a racy, rollicking, cheery book, somewhat after the manner of Lever's earlier works, full of fresh humor and told with a fluency and rapidity which is very pleasing to the reader. There is very litle depth and no purpose at all in the book, but it is a lively, agreeable story, well told and capital for reading in these hot summer days, being exciting and somewhat sensational, without a hint of real immorality from beginning to end. But a book of more pretensions is Miss Van Kortland, which is filled with startling situations, and wonderful sensations, but in which there are several well drawn characters, who act and talk in such a natural American way that we can not but wonder that so much of the novel writer's highest art has been so long undiscovered. There are characters intended to be comic which might have been left out altogether, and the book, as an entertaining story, as well as a work of art, would have been greatly improved if it had been pruned of numerous side scenes between such characters, which are dull, uninteresting and sometimes almost coarse. But the main plot and characters are none of these; they are a fair reflection of such American people, as we frequently see, and there is among them nothing whatever for which the author is indebted to English fiction. The scenes are laid in New York city and in the Pennsylvania coal regions, in the vicinity of Wilkesbarre, and the incidents of a miners' strike, the falling in of a mine and the breaking loose of an ascending car filled with ladies and gentlemen, are graphically and thrillingly depicted.

The author (or authoress, we imagine,) has two peculiarities. He is a ritualistic Episcopalian, but does not make the fact very prominent, excepting in his detestations of Presbyterianism, and he is not a New Englander, and glories in the fact, but even to persons who are Yankees and Calvinists this book will, we feel sure, prove very entertaining and agreeable reading.

PRIVATEERING.

The practice of employing merchant vessels to prey upon the commerce of an enemy dates far back into the ages of the past. There was a time when, even in European countries, public fleets were not kept up permanently. In those days, when governments went to war, they had to impress merchantmen into the naval service. But it was usual also for private persons to fit out vessels, either at their own, or the public expense, for the purpose of engaging in naval warfare.

The system of privateering has in modern times been considered by many to be of doubtful propriety, and by others as unjustifiable, because it engenders a spirit of plunder, eradicates the sense of private right and nourishes a spirit of rapacity. Dr. Franklin says, "The practice of robbing merchants on the high seas, a remnant of ancient piracy, though it may be accidentally beneficial to particular persons, is far from being profitable to all engaged in it, or to the nation that authorises it." In the treaty which he drew up in 1785, between the United States and Prussia, it was stipulated that neither of the parties entering into the contract should grant letters of marque to any private armed vessel empowering it to prey upon or interrupt the commerce of the other. A similar provision was made in a treaty between the United States and France in 1789, the Netherlands in 1792, and England in 1794. As we stated a few days ago, the leading powers in Europe agreed to abandon privateering in the Paris treaty of 1856.

But whilst the practice of privateering is attended by many evils, the right of one belligerent to employ it against another is almost universally conceded. Such a system of warfare would be highly advantageous to the United States, whose navy is not maintained on the same grand scale as that of some European nations, if engaged in a conflict with England, France or any other great naval power. A belligerent has a right to cripple his enemy in every possible way consistent with the laws of humanity. By resorting to it a nation with an inferior naval force and extensive commercial marine can cope more successfully with an adversary who has a large and well equipped fleet at his command.

During the administration of Franklin Pierce our government signified its willingness to sign the treaty of Paris which abolished privateering, provided the contracting parties would agree "that the private property of the subject or citizen of a belligerent on the high seas should be exempted from seizure by the public armed vessels of the other belligerent, except it be contraband of war." The amendment was not entertained by the powers who signed the "declaration," and our government refused become a party to the transaction.

War is waged by a nation and not by an individual, although all the citizens of the belligerents are supposed to be at war with each other. No private person has a right to seize the commerce of another nation with which his own is at war, unless he has been duly commissioned to do so. In the treaties referred to above it was declared that privateering would be held to be nothing less than piracy, and if an individual should seize the commerce even of a belligerent without being possessed of letters of marque he would be treated as a pirate. No private citizen has a right to wage an unauthorized war even against an active enemy of his own nation. Nor have neutrals any right to cruise against the commerce of a belligerent or a neutral.

Every privateer must be duly commissioned by the constitutional authorities of the nation under whose flag he sails forth on his voyage of plunder and destruction. It belongs to the Congress of the United States to grant letters of marque and reprisal, and without these none would be authorized under any circumstances to go forth on a cruise of privateering, even against the commerce of a belligerent.

Those, therefore, who talk about sweeping the commerce of England from the seas, in retaliation for the destruction of property by the Alabama, provided she should be drawn into the European war, do not understand the usages which regulate such a system of warfare. Privateering is not a lawless practice; none but those who have received a legal commission have any right to engage in it. The latest accounts are that a neutral flag protects the enemy's merchandize, except it be contraband of war; and that the merchandise of a neutral, except contraband of war, is not seizable under a foreign flag. The treaty of Paris is to be carried out. But even if England were at war with a power that did not sign that treaty, no privateer would have a right to destroy her commerce on the high seas. If we should get into a war with her, the case would be different.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY.

We find the following interesting details in the Baltimore American:

OUR NAVY AT THE CLOSE OF THE WAR.

At the close of the war our navy was strong in iron-clad vessels of various styles, heavily armed and admirably adapted for coast defence. We had only one broadside iron-clad, the New Ironsides, fit to go to sea as a cruiser, and she is now a wreck off League Island in the Delaware river. The double turretted monitors, such as the Monadnock, Miantonomah and Terror, had made voyages to foreign lands, and had clearly shown themselves capable of taking care of themselves in stormy weather at sea, although no one claimed that they could conduct a conflict in a heavy sea-way. Our cruisers are now, and have always been, wooden ships, satisfactory enough in their way, but quite unfit to meet the foreign iron-clad broadside ships, which are now seen as regular cruisers in all ports of the globe. In case of a war with any of the leading European powers, or in case of less serious complications, when it became necessary to display a naval force of the greatest effective strength to meet any emergency, it will be interesting to know exactly what we would be able to do.

THE GREAT IRON-CLAD STATION.

League Island, the great iron-clad station of the United States, lies six miles below Philadelphia, on the Delaware river, and to the popular eye, so much having been written about it, it must be a grand and magnificent naval arsenal, with immense dry docks, huge machine shops, splendid storehouses and all the other necessary buildings on a scale commensurate with the demands of a first class navy. Leaving the Philadelphia Navy Yard on one of its tugs, the enthusiastic visitor to League Island, filled with splendid visions of a second Toulon, would find his fine fancies rudely dispelled when his eye first caught sight of the long, low, marshy and unimpressive island, around whose shores are moored nearly half of the iron-clad navy of the United States, resting and rusting "in ordinary."

AN ISLAND SOMETIMES UNDER WATER.

The island lies so low that spring freshets overflow it and enable adventurous sailors to row over a better part of it in a small boat. Former proprietors, either as a protection to their crops or to save the island itself from the rapacious and consuming sweep of the Delaware, built a slight stone wall on the river side, which has, except in two or three instances, tolerably well protected the island from floods.

Before the Navy Department can attempt to make any expenditures on works of a permanent nature on the island it must construct a first class sea wall, lest a raging flood might some day sweep off the light sandy soil, and carry off with it the entire naval station forever.

On this island there are two or three houses now occupied by the boatswain and carpenter of the station. Such of the officers of the station as are compelled to reside there find quarters on the old sailing sloop-of-war St. Louis, which has been housed over and fitted up to accommodate a few officers and men. The St. Louis is moored alongside the island, and by her is the tremendous iron-clad vessel the Puritan, designed by Ericsson, but yet in an incomplete state.

THE PURITAN

is a single turreted monitor, to carry two 20-inch guns, with a long, sharp, wedge-like ram, calculated to run through any ship afloat if her engines could drive her at the speed intended. Her immense engines are already aboard and in place, but her turret is still laying in her hold, ready to be put up at any time. It would require more than six months to make the Puritan ready for sea. Lying ahead of the colossal iron clad is the magnificently costly failure the Chattanooga, a wooden ship, designed for a swift ocean cruiser, but now thoroughly and hopelessly rotten, ere she ever breasted or plunged through the seas of the Atlantic. Her engines, costing more than eight hundred thousand dollars, are to be taken out and placed in the Connecticut, a larger craft now building in the Boston yard. The only return the Government will ever receive for its outlay of nearly eight hundred thousand dollars on her hull will be for the old iron, copper and decayed timber which may come out of her when she is broken up. Astern of the Puritan, with her turret and smokestack properly covered, lies the single turreted monitor Canonicus, carrying one 15-inch and one 11-inch gun. She has seen service during the war, and bears in many places honorable scars gained in the hot conflict. The Canonicus is the only iron-clad at League Island which is ready for sea. She can be coaled and sent to the front, if that be not too far distant, in one week. She has been recently repaired and made ready to respond at a moment's call, and is, for that class of vessels, very efficient and valuable.

THE INSIDE CHANNEL.

On the inside of the island, snugly bundled away, with turrets and smoke stacks covered, and everything carefully arranged to prevent unnatural deterioration and decay, lie fifteen monitors of various styles and sizes. Some of them were originally of the famous light draught description—so light, indeed, that they could not carry their armor. A liberal expenditure of money applied to building up their decks obviated that trifling defect in their original plan.

THE MONITOR IRON-CLADS.

thus laid up in ordinary on the inside channel of the island are the Algoma, 2 guns; Catskill, 2; Cohoes, light draught, 2; Jason, 2; Lehigh, 2; Koka, 2; Nahant, 2; Nantucket, 2, Napa, light draught, 1; Nausett, 2; Niobe 2; Otsego, 2; Passaic, 2; Suncook 2, and Yazoo, 2. Several of them did long and splendid service in Charleston harbor and off Wilmington, and would doubtless be equally efficient, did opportunity offer, in the fortress. The batteries of all these vessels are laid away at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, as there is as yet no ordinance yard established at League Island. The engines are carefully covered with a coating of beeswax and black lead, which protects the iron and steel and prevents rust. Not one of these iron-clads could be got ready for sea in several months, but eventually could be put in excellent condition. All, of course, are designed for home defence and could aid our forts and the torpedo force in keeping out of harbors an enemy's fleet of iron-clads, but they are in no sense fitted for offensive warfare to be carried on in foreign seas. Our navy for that purpose has not yet been designed, much less built. While Congress will not appropriate money for that purpose the Department manages by strict economy to prevent in a measure the destruction of what force we already possess, built up as it was for home uses, and is very slowly adding to our small force of wooden ocean cruisers. Especially has it exhibited commendable care in preserving as well as may be our fleet of iron clads.

THE PERSONNEL AT LEAGUE ISLAND.

At League Island a strong staff of our cleverest and most experienced engineers are retained on duty, to keep a constant watch on the vessels lying there, and to do all in their power to see that they suffer no more than the usual depreciation caused by time and non usage in their hulls and machinery. I am confident from a careful examination that nothing could be better managed than the work entrusted to our officers at League Island.

THE NEW ORLEANS STATION BROKEN UP.

As you are doubtless already informed the Department has given orders to break up the iron-clad station at New Orleans and to send to League Island all the sea-going iron-clads to be permanently laid up with their rusty brethren for the day of need. The iron-clads built for river service in the West will probably be sent to Mound City to be laid up. The Island will thus become the sole station for sea-going iron-clads not in use or stationed at various navy yards for harbor defence.

THE IRON-CLADS CRUISING.

At present the iron clads in commission are the Terror and Miantonomah, double-turreted monitors, four guns each, and the Ericsson monitors, Saugus, two guns. The double-turreted Amphitrite, four guns, is lying off the Naval School, at Annapolis, and, with some repairs and a proper crew, can be sent to sea in a short time.

THE IRON-CLADS ON THE PACIFIC SIDE,

at the Mare's Island Navy Yard Bay of San Francisco, are lying up in ordinary—the double-turreted monitor Monadnock, four guns, and the monitor Camanche, two guns. The latter vessel was sent out to San Francisco in pieces during the late war, and after suffering all sorts of misfortunes, one of which was being sunk in the bay, was finally raised, put together and successfully made ready for service. She is in excellent condition, and prepared in every way to perform efficient duty at a few weeks notice. The Monadnock, a vessel built in the Boston Navy Yard, on a plan better adapted for sea-going purposes than Capt. Ericsson's, although the turret system invented by that gentleman was returned, was the first turreted ship that made a long sea voyage. It will be remembered that under the command of Lieutenant Commander Francis M. Bunce she accompanied Rear Admiral John Rodgers' squadron around Cape Horn into the Pacific Ocean, and finally to San Francisco, where she was put out of commission.

The Monadnock first demonstrated the fact that turreted ships of that class could be sent to distant seas with safety, and the subsequent cruise of the Miantonomah to the ports of Europe satisfactorily confirmed the faith of the Navy Department in their sea-going qualities. The Monadnock carries four fifteen-inch guns, and with a smaller consort, the Camanche, would afford ample protection to San Francisco against any enemy's vessels ever likely to be found in the Pacific.

ON THE ATLANTIC COAST

We find the mouth of the Mississippi and the Gulf ports protected by the river iron clads now at Mound City and the monitors at New Orleans. That squadron consists of the monitors Ajax, 2 guns; Etlah, 2 guns; Iris, 2 guns; Klamath, 2 guns; Manhattan, 2 guns; Umpqua, 2 guns; Wyandotte, 2 guns; Yrma, 2 guns, and the iron-clads Chickasaw, 3 guns; Kewaydin, 4 guns, and Winnebago, 4 guns, at New Orleans, and the Marietta, 2 guns; Osceola, 2 guns, and Sandusky, 5 guns, at Mound City. As we before remarked, the monitors are to be sent to League Island; the balance will remain in the Mississippi. Cruizing in the Gulf at this moment are the double turreted monitor Terror, 4 guns; Dictator, 2 guns, and the Saugus, 2 guns, with headquarters at Key West. At Washington, covering the Chesapeake and James river, are the monitors Mahopac, 2 guns; Montauk, 2 guns, and the light draught monitors Hero and Piscataqua, each armed with one gun. League Island covers the Delaware, and for we find only at this time the three-turreted monitor Roanoke, six guns—an excellent steam floating battery—which could be of great service in defending the harbor, in conjunction with the guns of the forts in the lower bay and the torpedoes which would obstruct the channel to the city.

NEW YORK DEFENCES

AT BOSTON

there are the Miantonomah, double-turreted monitor, four guns; the Shawnee, two guns, and the light draught monitor Wassuc, one gun. There are no iron-clads at the Portsmouth Navy Yard and none stationed on the Eastern coast. A squadron could soon be distributed among the Eastern ports for harbor defence in case of necessity.

At the Naval Academy, Annapolis, used as a practice ship, is the double turretted monitor Amphitrite, nearly ready for sea service, and at the Brooklyn Navy Yard is the mysterious, quaint and odd-looking monitor.

THE TORPEDO BOAT SPUYTEN DUYVIL,

an offensive engine of great power, and one that is reckoned on to blow up any fleet of iron-clads that may attempt to enter New York harbor on a hostile errand. These vessels that have been enumerated constitute the iron-clad navy of the United States. They carry 104 guns, more than two-thirds of which are of fifteen-inch. The balance are eleven inch smooth bores or two hundred pounder rifles. For home defence this squadron would undoubtedly prove amply strong if wisely distributed. Besides these there are on the stocks, well advanced, at the New York Navy Yard, the Colossus, 10 guns; Massachusetts, double-turreted monitor, 4 guns, at Portsmouth Navy Yard, Nebraska, two turrets, 4 guns, Philadelphia Navy Yard, and the Oregon, two turrets, 4 guns, at Boston.

The armor and turrets of these ships are all ready to be put on, though it would require a year or more to get them ready for sea.

Worth Searching For.

The Public a Parisian newspaper, makes the following statement, which will excite cupidity in not a few bosoms. It relates to nothing less than a treasure estimated at more than $600,000 value, buried in the forest of Bondy, which is about eight miles northeast of Paris. The matter has been brought before the Corps Legislatif by petition. The petitioner alleges, as an historical fact, that during the night of the 16th of January, 1793, a box containing the jewels and ornaments of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette, with parchments and title deeds belonging to the Royal family, and also their private correspondence, was carried off from the Chateau of Mudon and buried in the forest. A carpenter, of the name of Faure, had been in possession of a minutely detailed list of the articles, and the document contained a description of the local surroundings and benchmarks which would enable any one to find the place where the treasure was buried. Several clandestine attempts had been made to discover the spot, but without success. The list was accidentally destroyed during a fire, but M. Fauer can give a complete description of the chest, and he can enumerate the objects which it contained, viz: 1. An oval medallion, of the size of a six franc piece, set with precious stones, and representing on the one side Louis XVI. and on the other Marie Antoinette. 2. Six pairs of bracelets. 3. A large number of rings. 4. A pair of springs for the ears. 5. A diadem. 6. A crucifix. 7. A "vide poche." 8. A collar, containing from 72 to 78 pearls. 9. A violet colored costume, ornamented with lace and jewels. 10. The ornaments of the King. 11. His secret correspondence. 12. The title deeds and parchments of the royal family. These details were all given in the burnt list, which, moreover, estimated the value of the Queen's jewels at $6,25,000. The Public gives no explanation as to how the list came into the possession of M. Faure. He surely could not have been old enough in 1793 to have been made the depositary of such a secret. Nor does it state what the Corps Legislatif is asked to do in the matter.

A Dangerous Water Pipe.

[From the Boston Journal of Chemistry.]

Attention has been called several times in the Journal to the dangerous character of the galvanized iron pipe when employed for conducting water to be used for culinary purposes. Instances of severe poisoning from the use of this pipe are continually coming to our notice, and we are led once more to caution our readers against it. It is almost a crime for manufacturers and dealers to recommend this zinc-covered iron pipe for water conduit, as they thereby jeopardize the health, and perhaps the lives, of purchasers. When this pipe comes from the hands of the manufacturers, it has a fresh, clean appearance, and to those who do not understand the nature of the covering the idea is conveyed that it will not oxidize or rust like ordinary iron pipes. But this is an error; it will rust even more rapidly than clean iron in most localities. The superficial covering of zinc is rapidly decomposed under the influence of ordinary pond and spring waters, and the oxide, carbonate and chloride of zinc are formed, which salts are of a deleterious or poisonous character. This covering of zinc on the interior is attacked immediately when water is allowed to flow through, and in some instances we have known it to be entirely removed in forty-eight hours. The insoluable carbonate of zinc is seen to float upon the water in the tea-kettle, and other water vessels used in families, and this has often created alarm, where no suspicions previously existed. We hope the newspaper press throughout the country will caution their readers against the use of this pipe for water supply.

DURING his Italian tour, Dickens was conducted over a certain monastery by a young monk, who, though a native of the country, spoke very fluent English, with the exception of frequently misplacing his v's and w's. On Dickens' inquiring if he had ever been in England, he said that he had not, but had learnt the language from a book that he brought forward, which proved to be a copy of Pickwick. It thus appears that Mr. Samuel Weller was responsible for the peculiarity of his pronunciation.

THE GERMAN FATHERLAND.

[Translated from the German of Ernst Moritz Arndt, by James Clarence Mangan.]

Where is the German's Fatherland?
Is't Prussia? Swabia? Is't the strand
Where grows the vine, where flows the Rhine?
Is't where the gull skims the Baltic's brine?
No!—yet more great and far more grand
Must be the German's Fatherland!

How call they then the German's land?
Bavaria? Brunswick? Hast thou scanned
It where the Zuyder Zee extends?
Where Styrian toil the iron bends?
No, brother, no!—thou hast not spanned
The German's genuine Fatherland!

Is then the German's Fatherland
Westphalia? Pomerania? Stand
Where Zurich's waveless water sleeps;
Where Weser winds, where Danube sweeps;
Hast found it now?—Not yet! Demand
Elsewhere the German's Fatherland!

Then say, Where lies the German's land?
How call they that unconquered land?
Is't where Tyrol's green mountains rise?
The Switzer's land I dearly prize,
By Freedom's purest breezes fanned—
But no! 'tis not the German's land!

Where, therefore, lies the German's land?
Baptize that great, that ancient land!
'Tis surely Austria, proud and bold,
In wealth unmatched, in glory old?
O! none shall write her name on sand!
But she is not the German's land!

Say, that, Where lies the German's land?
Baptise that great, that ancient land!
Is't Alsace? Or Lorraine—that gem
Wrenched from the Imperial Diadem
By wiles which princely treachery planned?
No! these are not the German land!

Where, therefore, lies the German land?
Name now at last that mighty!
Where'er resounds the German tongue—
Where German Hymns to God are sung—
There, gallant brother take thy stand!
That is the German's Fatherland!

That is his land, the land of lands,
Where vows bind less than clasped hands,
Where Valor lights the flashing eye,
Where Love and Truth in deep hearts lie,
And Zeal enkindles Freedom's brand—
That is the German's Fatherland!

That is the German's Fatherland!
Where Hate pursues each foreign band—
Where German is the name for friend,
Where Frenchman is the name for fiend,
And France's yoke is spurned and banned—
That is the German's Fatherland!

That is the German's Fatherland!
Great God! look down and bless that land!
And give her noble children souls
To cherish while Existence rolls,
And love with heart, and aid with hand,
Their Universal Fatherland!

THE BLOOD IN SUMMER.

The blood deteriorates in hot weather. Profuse perspiration deprives it of a portion of its nourishing and productive properties. Consequently, in Summer, the flesh loses in some degree, its firmness, the muscles lack their usual elasticity and vigor, and the weight of the body diminishes. These are clear indications that the ordinary supply of the life-sustaining principle afforded by the food we eat, is not sufficient to meet the requirements of the system under a high temperature. There is another reason for this, besides the direct influence of the heat, viz: the loss of appetite and the weakening of the digestive powers which it occasions. Under these circumstances a wholesome invigorant is evidently needed, and the best and safest is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This admirable vegetable tonic and alterative, acts favorably upon the system in several ways. It increases the appetite and facilitates digestion, thereby inclining the stomach to receive and enabling it to assimilate a due amount of nourishment. It also tones the relaxed secretive organs and the bowels. Under its operation the process of emaciation, occasioned by the drain through the pores, is arrested, the whole frame refreshed and invigorated, and the spirits exhilarated. The dyspeptic, the bilious, the nervous, the debilitated, scarcely need to be told that it is precisely the stimulant and corrective they ought to take at this season. Thousands of them know the fact by experience. Nothing in the pharmacopœia (or out of it) will supply its place—least of all the trashy local nostrums which some unscrupulous dealers would be glad, for the benefit of their own pockets, to peddle out in its stead.

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL PRIVATE DISEASES, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, Pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 3 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE ST. (near Court House) Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
THURSDAY, July 28, 1870. }

The dispatches from Chicago on Wednesday reported a stronger market for wheat, but as New York was dull and lower, we persume the upward movement in the former place was entirely speculative. The general feeling in regard to breadstuffs is by no means satisfactory, and, as might be expected, the views of operators in regard to the future are very conflicting. There is not much change to note in the aspect of the threatened European war, and as the leading markets will all be controlled and influenced more or less by the movement about to be made across the water, business men generally are awaiting the result with great anxiety, and, as might be expected, many of them are growing very restless. The Chicago Tribune humorously remarks: "Not only the war, but the French and Prussian monarchs both seem to be decidedly mythical, and it will require a big battle to convince the commercial world hereabouts that the whole thing is not a delusion, got up like the cry of 'short crop,' to advance prices. The people have had faith, but the relapse is terrible."

ASHES—Firmer but not quotably higher. Soda Ash, 4 for common, and 4¼ for refined; Pearls 9@9½; Pots 7¼.

APPLES—Eastern apples are mostly of an inferior grade this year, and sell slowly at $2.50@3.50 per bbl, while prime receipts from Ohio sell readily at $4@4½, and the supply is not equal to the demand. It is reported that the crop in Ohio will be a light one this year, while Michigan promises an average yield.

BROOM CORN—Very dull and unchanged at 12@13; sale 1 car load at 13.

BUTTER—Prime fresh butter is in good demand, and we can report regular sales of this kind at 24@25. Common butter is unchanged.

BEANS—Demand continues meagre and prices are nominal at $1.50@1.75 per bushel.

BROOMS—Store prices; Fancy, $5.50; No. 1, $4.50; No. 2, $4; No. 3, $3.50; Common, $2.50@3.

CHEESE—Is in fair demand with sales at 13@14 for Ohio Factory and Goshen.

CORNMEAL—Sales in store at $1@1 10 per bushel, as to quality.

CHICKENS—Spring chickens are in good supply, with regular sales by the coop at 55@65 per pair.

CARBON OIL—Continues very dull and it is difficult to quote correctly in a jobbing way.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches in steady demand, with sales of halves reported at 9@10—quarters quoted at 6@7. Apples nominal at 5@6.

EGGS—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and the market continues dull, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand. We continue to quote at 15@17 as to condition.

FLOUR—The market is quiet but steady—there has been no change in prices for several days. We continue to quote at $7½ for good western, and $7¾ for choice. Rye flour, $6@6¼. The receipts continue light, and the supply in this market is by no means large.

GRAIN—Wheat is in steady milling demand, and we can report regular sales at $1,35@1,40 for red, and $1,46@1,50 for white. Oats quiet but firm; while the demand is only moderate, holders are stiff. Quotations may be fairly given at 56@57 on wharf or track, and 58@60 for small lots in store. Corn continues quiet—very little offering, and not much wanted; prime shelled may be quoted at 95. Rye is quotable at 90@95. No established price for Barley.

GROCERIES—There is a steady city a country demand for sugars, and the market is firm but unchanged. We give 10@12¼, as the range for raw, standard hards still quoted at 15; A Coffee 14; B do 13½; Extra C, 13½; C, 13¼. Coffee is quoted at 19@23, for fair to choice Rio. Syrups dull. New Orleans Molasses scarce and firm; we can report a sale of 100 bbls at 95, to be delivered in New York.

HAY—Sold in the Allegheny market yesterday at $12@18 per ton, a decline.

HUSKS—Corn husks, 3@3½ cts.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at $2,25 per bbl, and eastern at $1,75.

LARD OIL—No. 1 extra is quoted at $1,20@1,25, the outside figure for well established Western brands.

POTATOES—The receipts from abroad have fallen off very materially within the past day or two, and the market is firmer $2,50@2,75 per bbl.

PEANUTS—More active and firmer under influence of advices from Cincinnati; we can report sales of several hundred bags here at 8 cts, and one shipment to Cincinnati, where prices are relatively higher than here.

PROVISIONS—Market steady with a continued good jobbing demand, while in regard to prices there are no changes. Shoulders, 14½@15 for plain, and 16@16½ for sugar cured; Ribbed Sides, 17¾; short rib 18, Clear 18½; Sugar cured hams 25@25½. Dried beef 26. Lard 17½ in tcs and 18½ in kegs. Mess Pork, $31.

SEEDS—No movement in Clover or timothy seeds. Flaxseed is also dull notwithstanding the arrivals are light, and cannot be quoted above $2,20.

SALT—Allegheny river brands may be quoted at $1,60 by the car load and $1,70@1,75 for small lots in store.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, July 28.—There is an improved inquiry from early southern trade, especially Texas, but no demand as yet for other sections, in fact fall trade has not yet opened fully nor are prices generally established; we quote Nashua E brown cottons 15½c; do K 36 inch 13½c; do O 12c; Indian Orchard double weight sheeting 14½c; Pequot A 14@14½c; Newmarket A 11½c; Nevada A 11c, and Princeton 13c.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
THURSDAY, July 28, 1870. }

The operations in oil were again large to-day unusually so, the sales of crude and refined aggregating about thirty-eight thousand barrels. With exception of refined for immediate delivery, which is higher, in consequence of an anticipated corner on the last day of the month, prices are lower, and as the figures are down pretty well, buyers do not think there is much risk in "pitching in," and the "shorts" are busily engaged in buying to "cover." In regard to the future of the market, the prospects at present are not very encouraging, but the trade appear to be impressed with the belief that it is not likely to be much worse, and that, as already intimated, there is not much risk in buying some at present figures and in case there is a further decline to buy more, and thus reduce their average. There are some operators, however, who appear to be very sanguine that the bottom has not yet been touched, though, as a general thing it is regarded as good policy to buy now so as to be prepared in case there should be a reaction.

CRUDE.

The sales reported to-day aggregate about 38,000 bbls, and there may be, and doubtless were, some sales effected that were not made public. Following is a list of sales reported.

PITTSBURGH CATTLE MARKET.

EAST LIBERTY STOCK YARDS, }
THURSDAY, July 28, 1870. }

CATTLE.

The receipts of cattle were again large last week, but owing to the extreme hot weather and very unfavorable advices from the east the market, unlike that of last week and the one preceding, was a very hard one, and prices are off fully half a cent per pound. There was a fair attendance of buyers, both for Philadelphia and New York, but they were unwilling to take hold unless concessions to the extent above named were made, and this holders, as a general thing, were unwilling to grant, and as a consequence, some drovers, being unable to realize their price here, shipped on further east on their own account, and as the saying is, they may go further and fare worse. It is possible that the eastern markets may be better next week, but of this there is no certainty, as they are very uncertain at this season of the year. The sales for the week aggregate about 2,300 head against something like 3,000 head last week. As will be seen by reference to the report of sales, there is nothing reported above 7¾, though it is but proper to remark that no strictly first class cattle changed hands. This class of stock would, no doubt, have brought 8 to 8¼, and we heard of one offer to buy at 8 30. Last week this grade of cattle sold at 8½ to 8¾, and the week preceding 8¾@9. Stock cattle were in fair demand this week, and quite a number changed hands at about last week's prices, 5@6cts—one drove brought 6¼.

We opine to the belief that there was considerable money lost here this week by drovers who had cattle on sale, as their purchases in the west were no doubt predicated on last week's prices.

In addition to the sales below reported, Sam Smith sold 37 head of fairish steers, averaging 1,025 lbs, at $67 per head.

SHEEP.

The receipts of sheep were considerably larger than those of last week, the increase, however, consisting mainly of the commoner grades, and while good sheep sold without much difficulty at full prices the lower grades, of which the offerings mainly consisted, were very dull and prices suffered a decline. The former brought 5½@6 cts—one bunch averaging 98 lbs, sold at 6¼, and medium at 4½@5. Scalawags may be quoted at 3@4.

HOGS.

The receipts continue light and with a steady shipping demand prices are higher than this day week though 15@20 cts below the quotations of Monday and Tuesday, when extra sold up to 10.60. We now quote Philadelphia hogs at 10.30 to 10.40; Yorkers at 9⅛@9¾; and Baltimore Hogs at 10.

RIVER NEWS.

The river rose all day yesterday under the influence of the recent heavy rains, and was still swelling steadily last evening with 7 feet 3 inches in the channel.

There has been no arrivals or departures since the writing of our last report excepting the Slackwater packets.

The Wild Duck was due last night from St. Louis, and will probably be found in port to-day.

A number of tow boats will depart today for different points below with tows of coal. A report of this will be found in our local columns.

Capt. Smith, of the steamer Belle, has gone to the sea shore to recuperate his health. He will return in a few weeks, and will be found at his post as courteous as ever.

—The papers published in the White River country are clamerous for the improvement of that stream by removing the snags and other obstructions to its navigation. It is asserted that $20,000,000 worth of the produce and merchandise is every year transported by steamboats plying on that stream, and that the aggregate amount of taxes paid by the inhabitants on its banks and contiguous to its towns is not less than $1,000,000. And further they claim that notwithstanding this very large amount paid into the national treasury, they have been entirely overlooked in the general appropriation for the improvement of the rivers and harbors. It is not boatmen who alone complain of the injustice done them, but planters and merchants join in the general clamor.

—The St. Louis Republican says: Steamboatmen here are of the opinion that the European war will have a depressing effect upon river shipments to New Orleans. It is thought that the commerce of the Mississippi river cities, and especially New Orleans, will suffer very heavily. Tonnage rates from New Orleans to Liverpool has advanced 60 per cent. Very few American vessels are owned in the South, and there are not half enough American bottoms afloat to meet the demand, and ship owners it is thought, will be forced to ship freights to the east by rail, thus enabling owners to dispatch their vessels from eastern sea ports.

—The four principal chains of the Rock Island rapids are now virtually finished by the Government engineers, and boats heavily loaded with barges in tow pass through with ease. There is at least five feet of water in the channel, an ample sufficiency for ordinary boats. Smith's Chain, at LeClaire, will next be operated upon. The contract for doing the work and thus not interfering with navigation, Case & Co.'s dredge and chisel boats are at work at Sycamore Chain, and it will probably be ten days or two weeks before this work will be finally completed.

—The St. Louis Democrat, of Monday says: Commodore Davidson has contracted for the building of still another mammoth steamer at Madison, Ind. It is to be the Lizzie Gill. The Commodore is the most enterprising man in the Mississippi Valley. He is in the prime of life, worth a couple of million, and likely to be worth twenty millions in twenty years.

—The Louisville Courier-Journal of Tuesday says: Verhoeff & Bros. on Monday, sold their two thirds interest in the steamer Peytona to the Messrs. J. L. Shallcross, C. D. McCallum and Parker Line No. 1 to G. B. Taylor, of Evansville, Indiana, for $12,000.

—The Granite State left Cincinnati for Wheeling on Tuesday evening with a moderate trip. H. D. Kerr is in the office and Wm. J. Andrews and Snell Fawcett are her pilots.

—The river editors of the Louisville Courier Journal and New Albany Ledger are engaged in vehemently blackguarding each other during the dull season.

—The old wharfboat David Tatum was moved at Cairo yesterday to give place to the new boat of Captain Phillips.

—The Lorena and Tidal Wave passed Evansville on Tuesday.

—The Leonidas arrived at New Orleans on Tuesday.

Struck by Lightning.—During the storm yesterday a house on Wylie street near Federal was struck by lightning. Several bricks were knocked off the chimney and the roof was slightly damaged.

Yesterday Elizabeth Smith complained to Alderman Bolster that John Frederick, a neighbor, maintained a ferocious dog which bit her little son. The Alderman held the accused to bail for a hearing.

Owing to a deficiency in the specifications of the bids for the erection of the new Fifth avenue market house, they will all have to be again taken. It was owing to this irregularity that the subject was not brought up in Councils recently.

The attention of parties desiring to purchase a nice two-story house on a nice and spacious lot in an eligible and clean locality in Allegheny city, and with all modern conveniences, is invited to the advertisement of John Ramsey, Esq., in "For Sale" column.

Sun Struck.—William Reeves, driver of car No. 10 on the Birmingham Passenger Railway, while driving his car along Smithfield street, yesterday, was stricken down with the heat and fell forward over the dash board. He was carried into the office of Dr. Rodgers, and after proper restoratives were given recovered.

Ben. Morgan, in his Prussian resolutions, referred to Red Cloud when he spoke of the Red Planet of War, thinking perhaps that warrior had left the Potomac to cut up capers on the Rhine. Nothing like neat figures of speech, but Ben. was mistaken, for Red Cloud is out West on the war path and knows nothing about the Rhine.

Stolen and Recovered.—Wednesday night, last, a valuable horse, saddle and bridle were stolen from the stable of Mr. Carson, of the firm of Carson & Darlington. Yesterday morning the horse was found hitched to a post near Soho, and was brought to the Mayor's office where it was afterwards turned over to the owner.

Surety of the Peace.—Jacob Spang and Wm. Weitzel, according to the statement of Adolph Weil, acted in a disorderly manner yesterday, and laid themselves liable to the law by threatening to do Adolph bodily harm. Justice Ammon was notified of the affair, and issued a warrant for the arrest of the accused for surety of the peace.

Mrs. Patrick Lyons suffered an indignity at the hands of one Miss Mary Hawkins. Mary slapped her in the mouth. Mrs. Lyons consulted her husband. He in turn consulted Deputy Mayor Nichols, and Mary was held to bail for a hearing for disorderly conduct. A cross suit was entered by Mary against Mrs. Lyons, which will be disposed of at the same time.

Sent Up.—James Porter, an account of whose doings we published yesterday, was before the Mayor yesterday morning for a hearing, and he was committed to the Workhouse for thirty days in default of a fine of $50 for disorderly conduct, and in the case of disorderly assault and battery in which Alderman Koenig was prosecutor, he was held to answer at court.

Disorderly Pair.—The business of calling names was resumed in the Third Ward, Allegheny, yesterday, by Michael Kunberger and his wife. The object of their wrath was Sarah Rommell, a neighbor. Sarah became alarmed at the violence of their emotions, and called upon Alderman Bolster. That official issued a warrant for the arrest of the disorderly pair.

Official Order.—Take the pisen sawsages and hold it in your hands til a dog comes up to you. Then hand it to him. Wait til he eets it. If he doant eet it doant leeve it on the streets but pick it up and wait for the next dog, strickt obedience to these regelations are demanded of all the distributors of the sawsages made for the unmusled dogs to eet. Thay must be obayed.

The mammoth organ of St. Paul's Cathedral is being materially enlarged, and when the improvements are completed it will be the largest and most powerful pipe instrument west of New York. In addition to another bank of keys and an octave of leviathan pipes, it will be supplied with an octave of silver bells, which will form a pleasing accompaniment. The improvements will probably be completed inside of two weeks.

Hop at the Rink.—The lovers of innocent amusement should visit the Rink to-night, as there will be a grand hop given there as a complimentary benefit to Mr. W. H. Brown, the gentlemanly superintendent, whose courteous manner has made for him a host of friends in his connection with the institution. The affair will be select and a delightful time may be anticipated. Music by the Mozart Band, and figures by Col. Joe Christy.

Cut his Ear.—People should be careful how they treat other folks progeny. It would have been well for John J. McGarvey if he had done so yesterday. In that case he would not have shoved the youthful scion of the Bresnahan race against a post with such violence as to inflict a serious wound upon the youth's ear. Neither would he have became an object of interest to Alderman Taylor's police such as he is now.

Trustee Sale.—On our first page Mr. G. S. Barker, trustee, offers for sale some very valuable land, situate in the borough of Beaver Falls and Patterson township, Beaver county. This property is so desirable that speculators should at once examine it, and be prepared to bid on day of sale. The description is fully given in the advertisement. The opportunity is certainly a rare one for a good investment.

Correction.—In our report of the fire of Wednesday evening, among the Allegheny tanneries, our types made us say the amount lost by the Cash Insurance Company was $25,000, whereas it was written correctly $2,500. The Cash Insurance Company pays her losses so promptly, and seems so delighted to pay them that if the loss had really been as large as first reported it would only have given the officers additional satisfaction to show their readiness to adjust and pay it.

Held the Deposit.—Some people are very forgetful of their promises. If certain statements are true August Geisler is of this class. He is said to have received one dollar and a silver watch from Julius Effnert and Nicholas Lucas, drovers, to procure tickets for them on the stock train bound east-ward. He didn't procure the tickets; neither did he return the deposit. Alderman Koenig has been called upon to investigate the case and as an important preliminary has issued a warrant for August's arrest for larceny as bailee.

Barn Burnt.—During the thunder storm of Tuesday evening last, the barn of Mr. Hugh Kennedy, a very respectable and well to do farmer residing in Jefferson township, this county, was struck by lightning and entirely destroyed by fire. The barn contained his crop of wheat, hay, oats, &c., together with wagons and several farm implements. Mr. Kennedy's loss is about $3,000 with no insurance. We understand some five barns have been struck with lightning during the last week in Butler county, Pa.

The Equity Bill.—The bill in equity filed by John Barton, Esq., praying that an injunction be issued restraining the City Treasurer and others, from collecting tax levied and assessed, under the last appropriation ordinance of Councils, came up for argument in the District Court before Judge Kirkpatrick yesterday. The argument was opened by Mr. Barton for complainant, and he confined himself mainly to the illegality of the ordinance, on account of the manner in which it was passed. Mr. J. S. Slagle followed for the City Treasurer and the argument was concluded by Capt. J. H. Kerr. The Court then took possession of the papers and announced that a decision would be rendered at as early a day as possible.

MORE OF IT.

The Storm Continued—Further Devastation—Another Chapter of Damages.

The dark storm clouds which for the past week have hung so portentiously over our city, seem not yet to have exhausted the spirit of destruction with which their advent at first was marked. Yesterday the rain, wind, thunder and lightning programme was repeated at intervals until evening, when the atmosphere became very cool, and, in comparison with the previous intense heat, very exhilarating. The record of damages by the lightning was continued, although the result was not so fearful as on the previous day.

About two o'clock the Enamel works, River avenue, Allegheny, above the upper bridge, was struck. The bolt knocked off a corner of the tall chimney, ran down through the roof, setting fire to the rafters, and disappearing in a cloud of smoke. Mr. Charles P. Duff, of this city, with two other gentlemen, all interested in the works, were sitting in the office at the time, and were stunned for a few moments. Recovering, they perceived the roof smoking. Happily the establishment is provided with a double line of hose, and the workmen with these quickly extinguished the flames, with small loss.

The barn of John Herron, Esq., located in Plum township, was struck also about half past two. The building with its contents consisting of hay and grain, was entirely consumed, involving a loss of $7,000. Mr. Herron is a resident of this city, and was partially insured.

The lightning descended upon a frame house on Veto street, Second ward, Allegheny, tearing off a considerable portion of the roof but fortunately injuring no person.

The residence of Mr. William Tate, Jr., corner of Resaca street and North avenue, Allegheny, was struck and a hole burned in the roof. No other damage.

The Edsworth engine-house, Eighth ward, Allegheny, also suffered, a lot of the shingles being torn off the roof.

Kellar and Hartje's foundry, in the Eighth ward, received a bolt, and the building was slightly damaged.

Stephans and Schmidt's brewery on Ohio street, near Pine street, had a chimney demolished and some shingles torn from the roof.

So far as we could learn this composed all the casualities worth noticing.

HABEAS CORPUS.

Alleged Abduction of a Child—The Facts in the Case—The Writ Dismissed.

A hearing took place in the District Court yesterday morning, Judge Kirkpatrick on the bench, in an application for a writ of habeas corpus, made by Bernard Hanna, of Blairsville, Indiana county, for the recovery of the custody of his daughter, Mary Ann Hanna, aged sixteen years, alleged to be in the custody of Mrs. U. B. Smith, residing at No. 465 Penn avenue. The petitioner set forth in his petition that about three years since his daughter was abducted from his house at Blairsville, and brought to Pittsburgh, since which time until within a few weeks he had heard nothing from her, although he had made active search. He further alleged that he had ascertained she was in the custody of Mrs. Smith, the respondent, and that when he went to the house of the latter, and demanded the custody of his daughter, he had been refused. Mr. M'Kenna, attorney for the father, alleged that Mrs. Smith had undertaken to raise the girl, and had full control over her.

Col. Glenn, who appeared for the respondent, objected to the petition on the ground that it did not set forth that the girl was illegally restrained of her liberty. He also read the answer of the respondent to the writ, in which she stated that the girl came to her house on the third of April last, and that upon her request she was received into the family to work for her clothing and schooling. She further said the girl had gone away when the father appeared, and despite her advice had refused to see him. That she had left the house, and that she was unable to discover her whereabouts.

Mr. McKenna contended that the answer was evasive, and he called Mrs. Coll, who testified that the girl had been living with Mrs. Smith since April last, and had apparently been treated as one of the family. She was in Mrs. Smith's house shortly after the father had been there and had seen Mrs. S. watching the girl departing from the house.

Mrs. Smith was called to the stand and testified substantially as set forth in the petition. She further stated that the girl told her she knew her father would place her in a convent and that was the reason why she would not see him.

The proceedings were dismissed at the cost of the petitioner.

CUT HIS THROAT.

Sickness and Insanity—Sad Termination of Life.

Yesterday morning a life was terminated in Allegheny, under the most sad and painful circumstances. For some time past Mr. Thos. Robinson, who resided at No. 247 Chartiers street, Fifth ward, had been ill, but was not thought to be in danger. He was able to go about during the day in the house, but was still under medical treatment. At times fits of depression would come upon him, when he would manifest symtoms of mental aberration. These attacks, however, did not continue long, and for that reason were not looked upon as anything very serious.

Wednesday morning he seemed pretty well and bouyant, but during the afternoon one of the melancholy fits came upon him, evidently in greater force than any previous attack. About five o'clock his wife left him alone in the room while she went out to prepare supper. She was gone but a few minutes when a noise in his room attracted her attention. Upon going in she discovered her husband lying upon the floor, sprinkled with blood and with a razor clutched in his hand. Closer examination revealed a deep gash extending from the right ear to the windpipe. He was very faint and weak from the loss of blood. Assistance was called in, and Dr. J. H. Grouard summoned. The patient by this time was easily managed but the flow of blood was not completely stopped until about seven o'clock—two hours after the cut. The victim lingered during the night and until yesterday morning at five o'clock when death put an end to the scene.

Robinson was a machinist by occupation and was always a sober, industrious man. He was about thirty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and several children. The affair was one of the most distressing and sorrowful we have been called upon to record for a long time.

Zell's Popular Encyclopedia

Continues to come regularly, and we can detect no depreciation in its value as its grows larger and older. There are errors in it, of course, but we may believe these are to be found in every other book of reference. A work embracing so vast a field must necessarily, however learned and competent its compilers, contain some mistakes; but this one, although apparently more than half way through and already far down in the M's—to Mensuration, we think—has proven unusually correct, and we feel very much like congratulating ourselves for possessing, and Mr. Zell for producing, so excellent a work. As we have already stated, the first volume is already completed and the publishers have for sale various styles of binding suitable for it. It makes a very handsome book, but we venture to doubt if the whole work can be completed in two such volumes. We think that a third will be necessary, and of course the regular subscribers will be greatly the gainers thereby.

Insulted Him.

Martin Garvey has been insulted—seriously insulted. The offender was Mrs. Welsh, proprietress of the Red Onion Hotel, Butler street, Lawrenceville. Mrs. Welsh and Martin were once good friends; many a glass has Martin tipped while pensively seated in the Red Onion bar. But the Red Onion bar knows him not now. Between he and Mrs. Welsh a coolness has sprung up; Mrs. Welsh hates him now. Yesterday she manifested it by following him through the street calling him vile names, expressing an earnest desire that he should "stand up like a man" and fight her, and characterizing his maternal parent as a female of unenviable reputation,—all of which Martin considered very insulting. As he related the story of his grievances to Deputy Mayor Nichols the fountains of magisterial sympathy were opened up. Mrs. Welsh was arrested and fined $5, which she cheerfully paid and departed, still breathigg vengeance against the object of her wrath.

Accident—Narrow Escape.

Georgiana Hubley, aged eight years, daughter of Geo. W. Hubley, Esq., was amusing herself on Tuesday evening, by swinging on the door of the hay loft of her father's stable, in the rear of his residence on Lincoln Avenue, Allegheny. She held to the door by one hand, and swayed it to and fro for pastime, when suddenly losing her hold, she fell twelve to fourteen feet to the ground below, her head striking upon a cobble stone. She was picked up by her brother, who was present, and carried, apparently dead, into the house; the case was one of violent concussion of the brain, rendering the child unconscious, in which state she continued for twelve hours, when happily her senses returned. She had no knowledge of the occurrence or incidents of the casualty, which came so near proving fatal. She is a lovely child, and we felicitate her parents upon her complete recovery from such extreme peril.

Fraternal Pleasantries.

Chas. Haney and John Haney are brothers. There exists between them a peculiar brotherly feeling. Each is inspired with it to desire the demolition of the other. Yesterday they met in a magistrate's office. John became exceedingly rampageous. He flourished a dirk knife, boasted of the possession of several revolvers, and expressed a most frantic desire to remove the innermost lining of the abdominal cavity of his relative. Charles looked not with pleasure upon the would-be surgeon's design. Four men held the gentle gentleman with the knife until he calmed down. Then he was held for a hearing on an information for surety of the peace by Alderman Koenig.

Shot at and Missed.

Another shooting affray occurred on the South Side yesterday, but fortunately the fellow who shot was not a "crack shot" and missed his mark. A barber, as the story goes, had a slight difficulty with his father-in-law which difficulty terminated in a fight, and after the first round the barber, after the manner of warfare adopted on that side of the river, resorted to his revolver and fired one shot at his aged parent, who, to prevent his daughter's husband from committing homicide, beat a hasty retreat and left the barber in possession of the field. The matter was so slight that it was not taken into consideration by the legal authorities of that progressive place.

No License.—Inspector Robt. McCready made information before Commissioner Gamble yesterday, charging C. H. Watson on North street with manufacturing and selling prize packages without having paid the necessary Government tax, $150. The accused was arrested and held in $2,000 bail for trial at the next term of the United States Courts. Information was also made by Mr. McCready, charging a wholesale drug firm, on Penn street with selling liquor at wholesale without the required Government license. The accused gave bail for trial at the next term of the United States Court.

This morning, about two o'clock, an alarm was sounded from box 75, corner of Butler and Forty-eighth streets, but owing to the distance, and the lateness of the hour, no particulars could be ascertained.

COAL SHIPMENTS.

The Rise in the Rivers—Shipped for Ports Below.

The recent rains have had the effect of putting our rivers into navigable order, and there is consequent activity among shippers. The busiest men are the coal dealers, who have been laying up the "black diamonds" in boats, barges, and other craft, for some time. Yesterday the shipments began, but only a portion of that ready has yet been started. Up to latest accounts, the amount shipped was as follows:

UNPROFITABLE PATIENT.

Valuable Lot of Jewelry Stolen—The Guilty Depredator is Arrested and the Goods Recovered.

About a week since a woman entered the office of Dr. Nicholson, corner of Beaver street and Benton alley, second ward, Allegheny, and asked for medicine for a sick child. The physician, in preparing it, had occasion to leave the room a moment. When he returned the woman had mysteriously disappeared, and with her about $550 worth of his property, consisting of a gold watch valued at $175, a diamond breastpin worth $350, and a set of shirt studs worth $25. These had been lying upon the table in the room. Nothing was heard of the property or the thief until Wednesday night at a late hour, when Josephine Bassett, well known to the police, was arrested for disorderly conduct and locked up. Subsequently she confessed to the theft, and gave information which led to the recovery of all the stolen goods yesterday. An information was made against her. Last night she had a hearing before Mayor Callow, and in default of $1,500 bail was committed for trial.

Personals.

WE are pleased to note that George R. Cochran, Esq., who has been absent during the past two weeks on a pleasure excursion, returned home last evening much improved in health, and is now prepared to attend to his usual business.

TENNESSEE CLAFLIN was at the St. Charles this week. She came hither to canvass for her new paper.

HARRY BELL, a very clever, genial young Pittsburgher, is the courteous clerk of the Gettysburg Springs Hotel.

HON. JOHN POPE HODNETT's lecture, at Lafayette Hall, on Irish colonization and the mineral and agricultural resources of Dakota, has been postponed until Saturday evening. There should be a large attendance, especially on the part of our Irish citizens.

Stolen Harness.

A few days since officer Hook, discovered a man at the cow market with a valuable set of single harness which he was trying to dispose of at a very low figure. The officer thinking the harness were stolen arrested the man and took both him and the harness to the Mayor's office. As there were no evidence that the harness had been stolen the man who proved to be Charles Blakely, was discharged and the harness retained. Yesterday morning Mr. W. W. Patrick who resides at No. 133, Center avenue, called at the Mayor's office and stated that a set of harness a fly net and a plush robe all valued at about $75 had been stolen from his stable recently. He examined the harness at the Mayor's office and identified them, and made information charging Blakely with the larceny. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

A Debtor Punished.

Debtors generally have a hard time of it in the world. Lake Martin is no exception to the rule. By frequent visits and numerous potations in the Sixteenth Ward House he became indebted to Morris Schal. Since then he has enjoyed his share of misery. Yesterday the feelings of Martin culminated in a combined attack upon his creditor—whose face, head, optics, ribs, and other parts of his body, beat abundant testimony to the nature of the attack. Lake is patient but dislikes the idea of being made a modern Job. To prevent a recurrence of the unpleasant scene, he has instituted proceedings before Deputy Mayor Nichols against Morris, who will be arrested as soon as possible.

Bounty.

The attention of discharged soldiers entitled to either bounty or pension is called to the card of B. F. Brown, Esq., in another column. Mr. Brown has been engaged as a claim agent for a number of years, and has been eminently successful. Having a personal acquaintance with Mr. Brown, we can without hesitancy recommend him to all who have claims against the Government as an honest and experienced agent. Office on the second floor of the GAZETTE building, corner of Sixth avenue and Smithfield street. Entrance on the avenue.

Scene Before a Magistrate.

Yesterday John Franholtz was brought before Deputy Mayor Nichols on a trivial charge. While the matter was being investigated, John became pugilistic, and made divers fierce threats against the official. He concluded by requesting the Deputy Mayor to retire expeditiously to—a country where he'd have need of his thinnest clothing. The same remark was also made to Lieutenant Irwin, who at once grappled with John and laid him out gently on the pavement. Subsequently he was fined five dollars for his brief pugilistic display.

Recovering.

Michael Murphy, the man who was shot by Joseph Aldridge in Birmingham last Wednesday evening, an account of which we published yesterday, is improving, and the attending physicians entertain hopes of his recovery. Aldridge has not yet been apprehended. Information has been made against him for felonious assault and battery, and although it is quite probable that he is still in Birmingham, his precise whereabouts are not known, and there seems to be but little effort made to find him.

Invaded the Domicil.—Theresa Pachtel like a dutiful daughter objects to the invasion of her home, and the beating of her aged maternal relative. During her absence yesterday morning such was the case. Two young men, Thomas Bradford and Jacob Breit, she says entered the house and cruelly beat, kicked and cuffed her mother, an old lady, without any apparent cause. The injured woman Mrs. Catharine Sietz, resided in the Third Ward, Allegheny. Alderman Taylor has issued a warrant for the arrest of the ungallant young men.

Delirium.—Yesterday morning, about one o'clock, one of the Allegheny night police arrested Richard Kopp, who was amusing himself in the Allegheny Market House by firing off a revolver. Richard was intoxicated. Richard was accommodated with a cell in the lock-up. He was not sober in time for the morning's levee. In the afternoon he developed delirium tremens. Dr. Thorn was called in and rendered him medical attention. Last evening he was raving in a fearful manner. To day if he is not better he will have to be removed to the Hospital.

Obituary.—We are pained to announce the death, after a lingering illness, of our well known and highly respected fellow citizen Washington McClintock, Esq., which took place yesterday afternoon at five o'clock. The deceased was widely known as a business man in these parts, and he sustained a very high reputation for honor, honesty and fair dealing. He was an active christian, and has left behind a bright record of good deeds performed. His funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock.

The residence of Mr. James Baxter, Beaver street, Allegheny, was entered by thieves Tuesday night. The depredators ransacked the house but were frightened off before they had secured anything but a small amount of fractional currency. It is supposed they entered through the front door, which was left unlocked.

ON Tuesday morning, in Philadelphia, John Gallagher and his wife were found dead in their bed. The coroner held an inquest on the royal corpse next day.

The bodies of persons drowned in the lake are never seen after they have once sunk. Of the five white persons drowned in the lake, not a single body has ever been recovered or ever seen. Pine logs float in the lake but a very short time, then sink never again to arise. In places far down through the crystal fluid are to be seen resting upon the bottom great quantities of slabs, logs, and lumber.

ENON VALLEY.

[Correspondence Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW BRIGHTON, July 28, 1870.

I have just returned from a short visit to Enon Valley, and will, for the benefit of your readers, give a brief description of the place.

It is located on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway, about 45 miles from Pittsburgh, and about a mile from the Ohio State line, being on the Pennsylvania side, partly in Beaver county and partly in Lawrence. It is 18 miles from Beaver town, the county seat of Beaver, and 12 miles from New Castle, the county seat of Lawrence.

It has some prominence as a railway station. The repair shops for this division are located here, and all trains stop for water and examination. The water is supplied in abundance from a spring on the hillside in the edge of the village. It is not an incorporated borough. The population of the village is about 200. There are three variety stores, one clothing, one shoe store, besides several shoe shops, a steam flouring mill, one carriage manufactory, one distillery, three licensed taverns, and one lager and ale shop.

There is a public school house in the village, an M. E. Church just outside, and a Presbyterian Church about a mile and a half out northward. The Good Templars are at work trying to reform the tipplers. They are doing very well. The Lodge is only three months old and has between forty and fifty members.

There have been a dozen or more dwellings erected during the past year.

There is a cluster of houses known now as Old Enon about a half mile north of the village. I suppose it has a population of from seventy-five to a hundred souls.

Farmers about there report good crops.

Though there are several little marshes in the vicinity, the health of the place is reported good. Yours &c. C.

A Letter from the Count De Paris.

The Journal de Paris publishes the following letter from the Count de Paris to Count de Keratry, in reference to the late petition of the Orleans Princes:

TWICKENHAM, July 4th, 1870.

SIR: As the gates of France remain closed to us as before, it is from a distance that I must express to you how much I was moved on reading your speech of Saturday. You have acted like an honest man, and as a deputy faithful to his country, in asking whether there existed one single proof to justify the penalty which weighs on us. You have made the truth clear and shown by a single expression how odious and contrary to the modern principles of equality and national sovereignty are these measures which condemn a whole family of citizens to the "privileged" situation, as it has been termed with cruel irony, of exile. I am happy to be able to thank you for the manner in which we have been defended by you, a member of the young generation which has faith in the Liberal future of France, and, which, looking forward rather than backward, seeks in the reminiscences of the past only experience, and not motives for rancor or division. No barrier can separate us from that party; for we share its ardent devotedness to the decisions of the national will, the sole and sovereign arbiter of the destinies of France. The vote which rejects our demand would have caused us the deepest affliction, had we felt ourselves called on to regard it as final, for our intention was not to provoke a barren debate; but we believe that, in putting before the Chamber and France the question as to the laws of exile, we have hastened the advent of the day when these laws will fall beneath the load of public reprobation. You have pleaded the cause of right, the common right of all, for the authority to inflict exile cannot exist in presence of universal suffrage and the sovereignty appertaining to it. Public feeling has declared in such a fashion that the decision come to by the Chamber, in order to conform to a powerful will, cannot, I feel sure, be long maintained. I conclude by once more addressing to you the thanks of those who, from afar off, have seen you combat, and who have been unable themselves to join in the struggle. Accept, I beg you, the sincere regards of your affectionate

LOUIS-PHILLIP D'ORLEANS.

Sparrows.

Did you ever hear it related that Frederick the Great, King of Prussia, was very fond of cherries? Well, he was; he had a positive weakness that way. One day he found the sparrows had begun to nibble away at some of his favorite fruit, and he offered a bounty of six farthings a brace for all birds of the sparrow tribe. Now, when the King said "St-boy!" it was enough. The crack of the gun was heard all over Prussia, until the modest little sparrows were anninilated. In less than two years there was scarcely a cherry in all Prussia, and all other fruits had suffered in proportion. The trees were completely overrun with caterpillars, and completely stripped of their leaves; insects had increased to a most enormous extent, for other birds had been frightened away by the crusade against the sparrows. The King did not, however, admit that he had made a mistake; it would not have been kingly, perhaps, but he knew that the sparrows would never return of their own account to the end of time. The sparrow, you know, is one of the most sedentary of the feathered tribe; he does not like to travel, and will not do it to please anybody if he can help it; but the King countermanded his decree, and went to work importing sparrows from other countries.
